HUERTA ORDERS ARMY TO MOVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Mexico City, June 19.—President Huerta believes that the break between General Carranza and General Villa will result in a complete disorganization of the Constitutionalist forces and orders were issued by the government today to take the aggressive with the Federal Army.

General Alvarez, the Federal commander at San Luis Potosi, was called into conference early in the day by Huerta and was told that arms and ammunition were available for his force. He was istructed to enlist 3,000 recruits.

Huerta and Minister of War Blanquet conferred at length last night and later Ministers Alcocer and Mohena were summoned to the National Palace.

Steamer Stranded in Fog.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, June 19.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company states that the steamer Needles, bound for South America, has stranded high and dry near Birling Gap. The heavy fog that has caused immense damage to shipping during the last 48 hours, still lays over the British coast today. Navigation was difficult at all ports.

ONE MAN KILLED IN CABLE CAR RUNAWAY

Fatal Accident on Lumber Camp Railway Near Haines Falls on Thursday Afternoon—Two Other Men in Serious Condition.

One man is dead and two are in serious condition at the Kingston City Hospital as the result of a wild ride down the mountain side at Haines Falls on Thursday afternoon when a cable holding a car containing a load of logs being let down from the top of the mountain broke and the car raced on to what seemed certain death for the men returning from work.

A large lumber camp is located on the mountain side and about a score of men were riding back to the camp after the day's work straddling the sticks of timber which had been cut down. At the conclusion of the day they took the last load down, intending to go to the eating shack for their supper. After going a short distance the cable parted and the car with nothing to hold it in check except a small brake went on down the incline at breakneck speed.

A foreman in charge of the men yelled to them to jump which most of them did. They fell in a pack rolling down the hillside alongside the track but most of them escaped serious injury by following the order of their leader. Four or five of the men stuck to the car until just before it struck the bottom when it turned over and the logs were piled on top of the men. Three of them were seriously injured and they were carried on to the camp and Dr. Hubbard summoned from the village.

He at once saw that their condition was serious and ordered them removed to the Kingston City Hospital. A special train was ordered from Hunter and it made a record run down to this city and the ambulance met the train at the corner of Hasbrouck avenue and O'Reilly street about 9:30 o'clock. The three injured men were taken to the hospital and Drs. Vrooman, Stern, Keator and Norwood were summoned. It was found that one of the men had sustained a fracture of the skull and there was slight hope of his recovery. An operation was performed by the four local surgeons, assisted by Dr. Hubbard, but the man did not rally and he died at 3:45 o'clock this morning.

Two others, one suffering from a fracture of the skull, but now conscious as his safe to follow workmen, and the third with a broken hip are being treated at the local institution. Everything was done to relieve their suffering. One of the men is a foreigner and as he was the only one conscious the names of the victims of the accident could not be learned by the hospital authorities. They were employes of the Berry Company, which operates a chain of lumber camps throughout the state. The owners of the concern live in Fort Plain.

K. of C. vs. Monograms.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Red Monograms will meet the fast team of the Knights of Columbus at McVey's Field. The Red Monograms have a record of twelve straight for this season with only one defeat and feel confident of victory. Nothing daunted the Knights have culled the best players of the order and consistent practice is being held evenings with the hope of taking the scalps of the Monograms. A good game can be looked for as there is some good timber on each side.

"LAX ADMINISTRATION" OF SUNSHINE SOCIETY SCORED IN REPORT.

(Mrs. Cynthia Westover Alden, President-General, Among Those Censured.)

New York, June 19.—The State Board of Charities Henry Bolds adopted the report of the special committee which was appointed to investigate the affairs and management of the International Sunshine Society. In its report the special committee vigorously condemned the society and Mrs. Cynthia Westover Alden, president-general, and recommended that the matter be referred to the Attorney General for such action as he may find it possible to take. The report also recommends that an investigation and audit be made covering the entire period of the society's existence. The investigators found that large sums of money given for charitable purposes had been improperly used in maintaining the Benson-hurst Hospital and Sanitarium as a losing venture.

BATTLE OF WORDS AT NIAGARA FALLS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 19.—That the turning of the Niagara Peace conferences into a battle of statements between the American and Mexican delegates has made it impossible for the A. B. C. envoys to continue the "conversations," was the opinion of diplomats here today. They deplored the fact that such methods should be resorted to by representatives of two nations gathered to prevent a war. One high government official stated that such proceedings can only hold the peace parleys up to ridicule before the world and that the only course left for the South American mediators was to call off the conference.

Official Washington is awaiting with undisguised anxiety the outcome of the conference today when it is expected the real crisis of mediation will be reached and the question of whether the conference shall be continued will be decided. The consensus in administration circles however, is that the "conversations" will come to an abrupt close, and that President Wilson and Secretary Bryan will have to look to other means of pacifying Mexico. Secretary Bryan for the past few days has been standing practically alone in his optimistic view of the outcome of the Niagara Falls conferences. He has continued to insist that mediation was "progressing satisfactorily." The White House has abandoned all hope of inducing General Carranza to agree to its terms and has openly shown that it looks to Villa as the "Mexican hope." Should the United States back Villa for the presidency of Mexico, those who have followed the intricacies of the situation, predict that it will add new complications to the muddle. Strong representations most likely would be made against such a course by Great Britain who holds Villa personally responsible for the murder of William Benton, an Englishman.

Jockey Fatally Injured.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Ascot, Eng., June 19.—Walter Griggs, one of the crack jockeys of the British turf was probably fatally injured today during the running of the Hardwicks Stakes. Grigg's mount, Maiden Erlegh, collided with the rail throwing the jockey to earth, with a crash. Maiden Erlegh is owned by Sol Joel.

PIPE ARRIVES FOR NEW WATER MAIN

Five car loads of twenty inch pipe for the new pipe line to be laid have been received by the Kingston water department and the work of laying the pipe will be started next week by Superintendent Harrison, who will put a large gang to work. The work will be started at the intersection of Manor and Albany avenue and pipe will be laid through Manor avenue in the direction of the Esopus creek, going towards the reservoirs.

The coagulating device is nearly completed and it is expected will be in operation in a few days.

The dry weather of the past few weeks has lowered the streams that feed the reservoirs, but it has not been found necessary to draw on Cooper Lake as yet.

Pittsburgh Strike Quiet.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Pittsburgh, June 19.—The force of deputy sheriffs at the Westinghouse strike in East Pittsburgh was increased today to 27. Immediately the borough's special police force was dropped from 41 to 13. The strikers point to the absence of disorder in the strike zone as a reason why Allegheny county taxpayers should resent the increasing of the deputy force and incidentally the tax budget. Less than 250 workmen reported today at East Pittsburgh, a considerable gain by the strikers, who, on the other hand absolutely failed in their first attempt to enlist the office employes.

Struck Automobile Truck.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 19.—Four persons were injured late last night when east-bound Erie Flyer struck an automobile truck at Big Tree Crossing six miles south of this city. Edward Wagner, aged 29 and Frank Schrick, 40 years old, are at the Emergency hospital, and Henry Meyers 27, and Frank Timmins, 40, are at the Mercy hospital. While seriously injured, it is believed all will recover.

SUFFRAGETTES TO TALK WITH ASQUITH

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, June 19.—The surrender of Premier Asquith to the demands of the suffragettes for a formal interview was declared today to be the greatest victory that the women have yet won in their fight for the "cause."

Officers of the Women's Social and Political Union, the organization of militants, said that the surrender of Premier Asquith portends a new era for women in Great Britain. They believe that it will result in the abandonment of forceful methods by the government and that its ultimate consequence would be the granting of the ballot to women.

Sylvia Pankhurst, daughter of the founder of militant methods, who was instrumental in forcing Premier Asquith to yield to demands for an interview, was so weak she had to stay in bed today, but she declared that she would face Mr. Asquith in the conference tomorrow if she had to be carried to Downing street on a cot.

"It will be a glorious day for the women of England and I am determined to share in it," declared Miss Pankhurst.

Mrs. (General) Flora Drummond, one of the chief lieutenants of the militants, voiced her jubilation in vigorous phrases.

"Premier Asquith would have regretted it if he had not capitulated," said she.

"We are becoming more determined and we are getting more converts daily. We have got beyond the point where we will trifle any longer with the British government. We can now see victory."

The demands of the women will be laid before Premier Asquith tomorrow and there will be a strong hint of a threat conveyed in the request that the premier immediately introduce a bill in parliament giving unlimited voting privileges to all women.

Already the women have a limited franchise, but they want equal privileges with men.

Premier Asquith is expected to take the demands of the women under advisement, but if the women suspect that he is trying to evade the issue there will probably be a lively scene.

King George's government has been steadily opposing liberal suffrage for the [illegible] ballot [illegible] fare [illegible] give [illegible] femi- [illegible] that [illegible] of the men so that women voters could control parliament and all other branches of the government electing themselves to office and making any laws they desired. They would control the colonial policy of the government and thus make their influence felt around the world. On account of the inexperience of women as voters and law makers the members of the government have feared that feminine control would plunge the United Kingdom into chaos and perhaps throw the country into war.

James Kier Hardie and other Socialist leaders have aligned themselves up with the women's party in the hope of making a political alliance if women got the vote.

HARVARD CREWS WIN TWO RACES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New London, June 19.—Harvard made a clean sweep of both two mile events in the forty-seventh annual rowing regata with Yale today.

The Crimson second varsity eight defeated the Yale crew easily by 10 lengths and the Crimson freshmen eight defeated the Blue crew by three lengths. The official time for the freshmen eight race was 11:45.

The third and last event of the regatta, the varsity eight four mile race, will be rowed lated this afternoon.

Yale's defeat in the two minor races was overwhelming. It had been expected that the Harvard crews would capture both but it had not been expected that the crimson would win so easily.

Motor Truck Ran Off Bridge.

The motor truck of the Brewster Powder Company of Port Ewen was badly damaged when it ran off a bridge near the company's plant on Thursday afternoon. Owing to the swampy ground near the plant the company had erected a bridge and in some manner the truck ran off it. The driver jumped and escaped being crushed under the truck when it struck the ground below.

The Dance at Rifton.

The automobile stage for the dance at Baldwin's Amusement Hall, Rifton, on Saturday evening will leave the Central Post Office at 8 o'clock and will stop at the Mansion House at 8:10. These dances are very popular and in order to accomodate the hall to the season the sides have been taken out, transfering it into a summer garden.

Wagon Ran Over His Foot.

Henry Blanshan of Mary's avenue while at work on Broadway near the American Cigar Company was badly injured on Wednesday afternoon when a wagon ran over his foot. Mr. Blanshan will be confined to his home for several days as a result of the accident.

MINERS ENTOMBED IN BURNING MINE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Liege, Belgium, June 19.—Two hundred miners were entombed alive today when fire broke out in the Viellemarthaye colliery. The fire was caused by an explosion.

When the accident occurred 400 miners were under ground but 200 escaped.

Rescue crews were immediately organized in an attempt to rescue the entombed men.

DEMAND FOR VEAL.

Price of Calves is Rapidly Increasing Because of it.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—"The demand for veal has increased rapidly, and not only are the surplus dairy calves slaughtered but thousands of beef calves as well, until a calf will now sell for from $8 to $12 when only two to three months old."

This quotation from Farmer's Bulletin 588 of the United States department of agriculture means that unless the farmer has unlimited cheap feeds, it is usually more profitable to market the dairy or dual-purpose calves than to attempt to raise them, even though some of them might make good steers. While many deplore this heavy slaughter of calves and legislation against it has been urged, the consumer's demand must be met.

While the number of cattle has decreased, the demand for meat has naturally grown until not only have the exports nearly ceased, but the packers that they may provide cheaper meat are now buying many cattle that were formerly fed. The farmers who formerly bought nearly finished cattle as feeders have been compelled to pay higher prices for such cattle or to take thinner animals.

The cattle-feeding business has changed greatly during recent years. Formerly steers from four to six years of age were fed in large numbers on commercial feed at yards near granaries or mills, or upon large farms where only the roughage was grown, and the cattle were kept on full feed for six months or longer. This method became too expensive, so feeding is now conducted upon farms as a means of marketing farm products by coverting them into beef, while the manure produced is utilized as a by-product for maintaining [illegible]

FIRE LADDIES RETURN.

Made Favorable Impression in Haverstraw Parade.

Wiltwyck hose company returned from Haverstraw on the Steamer Elihu Bunker on Thursday evening about 11 o'clock, having won great praise for their fine appearance and their beautiful silver and gold parade carriage coming in for much admiration from visiting firemen and the spectators. The local boys looked soldier-like in their new blue uniforms and throughout the line of march were frequently applauded. After the steamer docked the carriage was taken off and the wheels changed and headed by Mayor Canfield, Fire Chief Chipp and former Presidents Parsells and Quigley of the H. V. V. F. A. marched up Broadway. Accompanying them was the Kingston City fife, drum and bugle corps. Along the line of march there was a crowd of interested spectators and frequently a burning barrel testified to the esteem in which the brave fire laddies are held.

CLOWN LOST HIS HEAD.

Caught in Wires and Taken Off—It Was Artificial.

ADV. WRITING.

MUCH advertising suffers from the inability of the amateur writer to get started without 15 minutes of "cranking up" and his inability to stop until the terminus is half a mile behind. Shall I hit the nail squarely on the head for you, Mr. Merchant or Manufacturer, with advertisements, booklets, circulars, etc., that carry the "punch" and possess terseness, timeliness, impressiveness and persuasiveness? Write me for my reasonable terms. George M. Zellmer, care of Kingston Freeman.

ONE MAN KILLED IN CABLE CAR RUNAWAY

Fatal Accident on Lumber Camp Railway Near Haines Falls on Thursday Afternoon—Two Other Men in Serious Condition.

One man is dead and two are in serious condition at the Kingston City Hospital as the result of a wild ride down the mountain side at Haines Falls on Thursday afternoon when a cable holding a car containing a load of logs being let down from the top of the mountain broke and the car raced on to what seemed certain death for the men returning from work.

A large lumber camp is located on the mountain side and about a score of men were riding back to the camp after the day's work straddling the sticks of timber which had been cut down. At the conclusion of the day they took the last load down, intending to go to the eating shack for their supper. After going a short distance the cable parted and the car with nothing to hold it in check except a small brake went on down the incline at breakneck speed.

A foreman in charge of the men yelled to them to jump which most of them did. They fell in a pack rolling down the hillside alongside the track but most of them escaped serious injury by following the order of their leader. Four or five of the men stuck to the car until just before it struck the bottom when it turned over and the logs were piled on top of the men. Three of them were seriously injured and they were carried on to the camp and Dr. Hubbard summoned from the village.

He at once saw that their condition was serious and ordered them removed to the Kingston City Hospital. A special train was ordered from Hunter and it made a record run down to this city and the ambulance met the train at the corner of Hasbrouck avenue and O'Reilly street about 9:30 o'clock. The three injured men were taken to the hospital and Drs. Vrooman, Stern, Keator and Norwood were summoned. It was found that one of the men had sustained a fracture of the skull and there was slight hope of his recovery. An operation was performed by the four local surgeons, assisted by Dr. Hubbard, but the man did not rally and he died at 3:45 o'clock this morning.

Two others, one suffering from a fracture of the skull, but not as serious as his associate, follow workmen, and the third with a broken hip are being treated at the local institution. Everything was done to relieve their suffering. One of the men is a foreigner and as he was the only one conscious the names of the victims of the accident could not be learned by the hospital authorities. They were employes of the Berry Company, which operates a chain of lumber camps throughout the state. The owners of the concern live in Fort Plain.

K. of C. vs. Monograms.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Red Monograms will meet the fast team of the Knights of Columbus at McVey's Field. The Red Monograms have a record of twelve straight for this season with only one defeat and feel confident of victory. Nothing daunted the Knights have culled the best players of the order and consistent practice is being held evenings with the hope of taking the scalps of the Monograms. A good game can be looked for as there is some good timber on each side.

"LAX ADMINISTRATION" OF SUNSHINE SOCIETY SCORED IN REPORT.

(Mrs. Cynthia Westover Alden, Founder of the Society.)

New York, June 19.—The State Board of Charities Henry Bond, Emmons Clark and Langdon Pearse, adopted the report of the special committee which was appointed to investigate the affairs and management of the International Sunshine Society. In its report the special committee vigorously condemned the society and Mrs. Cynthia Westover Alden, president-general, and recommended that the matter be referred to the Attorney General for such action as he may find it possible to take. The report also recommends that an investigation and audit be made covering the entire period of the society's existence. The investigators found that large sums of money given for charitable purposes had been improperly used in maintaining the Bensonhurst Hospital and Sanitarium as a losing venture.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 19.—That the turning of the Niagara Peace conferences into a battle of statements between the American and Mexican delegates has made it impossible for the A. B. C. envoys to continue the "conversations," was the opinion of diplomats here today. They deplored the fact that such methods should be resorted to by representatives of two nations gathered to prevent a war. One high government official stated that such proceedings can only hold the peace parleys up to ridicule before the world and that the only course left for the South American mediators was to call off the conference.

Official Washington is awaiting with undisguised anxiety the outcome of the conference today when it is expected the real crisis of mediation will be reached and the question of whether the conference shall be continued will be decided. The consensus in administration circles however, is that the "conversations" will come to an abrupt close, and that President Wilson and Secretary Bryan will have to look to other means of pacifying Mexico. Secretary Bryan for the past few days has been standing practically alone in his optimistic view of the outcome of the Niagara Falls conferences. He has continued to insist that mediation was "progressing satisfactorily." The White House has abandoned all hope of inducing General Carranza to agree to its terms and has openly shown that it looks to Villa as the "Mexican hope." Should the United States back Villa for the presidency of Mexico, those who have followed the intricacies of the situation, predict that it will add new complications to the muddle. Strong representations most likely would be made against such a course by Great Britain who holds Villa personally responsible for the murder of William Benton, an Englishman.

PIPE ARRIVES FOR NEW WATER MAIN

Five car loads of twenty inch pipe for the new pipe line to be laid have been received by the Kingston water department and the work of laying the pipe will be started next week by Superintendent Harrison, who will put a large gang to work. The work will be started at the intersection of Manor and Albany avenue and pipe will be laid through Manor avenue in the direction of the Esopus creek, going towards the reservoirs.

The coagulating device is nearly completed and it is expected will be in operation in a few days.

The dry weather of the past few weeks has lowered the streams that feed the reservoirs, but it has not been found necessary to draw on Cooper Lake as yet.

Pittsburgh Strike Quiet.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Pittsburgh, June 19.—The force of deputy sheriffs at the Westinghouse strike in East Pittsburgh was increased today to 27. Immediately the borough's special police force was dropped from 41 to 13. The strikers point to the absence of disorder in the strike zone as a reason why Allegheny county taxpayers should resent the increasing of the deputy force and incidentally the tax budget. Less than 250 workmen reported today at East Pittsburgh, a considerable gain by the strikers, who, on the other hand absolutely failed in their first attempt to enlist the office employes.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, June 19.—The surrender of Premier Asquith to the demands of the suffragettes for a formal interview was declared today to be the greatest victory that the women have yet won in their fight for the "cause."

Officers of the Women's Social and Political Union, the organization of militants, said that the surrender of Premier Asquith portends a new era for women in Great Britain. They believe that it will result in the abandonment of forceful methods by the government and that its ultimate consequence would be the granting of the ballot to women.

Sylvia Pankhurst, daughter of the founder of militant methods, who was instrumental in forcing Premier Asquith to yield to demands for an interview, was so weak she had to stay in bed today, but she declared that she would face Mr. Asquith in the conference tomorrow if she had to be carried to Downing street on a cot.

"It will be a glorious day for the women of England and I am determined to share in it," declared Miss Pankhurst.

Mrs. (General) Flora Drummond, one of the chief lieutenants of the militants, voiced her jubilation in vigorous phrases.

"Premier Asquith would have regretted it if he had not capitulated," said she.

"We are becoming more determined and we are getting more converts daily. We have got beyond the point where we will trifle any longer with the British government. We can now see victory."

The demands of the women will be laid before Premier Asquith tomorrow and there will be a strong hint of a threat conveyed in the request that the premier immediately introduce a bill in parliament giving unlimited voting privileges to all women.

Already the women have a limited franchise, but they want equal privileges with men.

Premier Asquith is expected to take the demands of the women under advisement, but if the women suspect that he is trying to evade the issue there will probably be a lively scene.

King George's government has been steadily opposing liberal suffrage for the women [illegible] ballot [illegible] fare to give [illegible] of the men so that women voters could control parliament and all other branches of the government electing themselves to office and making any laws they desired. They would control the colonial policy of the government and thus make their influence felt around the world. On account of the inexperience of women as voters and law makers the members of the government have feared that feminine control would plunge the United Kingdom into chaos and perhaps throw the country into war.

James Kier Hardie and other Socialist leaders have aligned themselves up with the women's party in the hope of making a political alliance if women got the vote.

HARVARD CREWS WIN TWO RACES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New London, June 19.—Harvard made a clean sweep of both two mile events in the forty-seventh annual rowing regata with Yale today.

The Crimson second varsity eight defeated the Yale crew easily by 10 lengths and the Crimson freshmen eight defeated the Blue crew by three lengths. The official time for the freshmen eight race was 11:45.

The third and last event of the regatta, the varsity eight four mile race, will be rowed lated this afternoon.

Yale's defeat in the two minor races was overwhelming. It had been expected that the Harvard crews would capture both but it had not been expected that the crimson would win so easily.

The motor truck of the Brewster Powder Company of Port Ewen was badly damaged when it ran off a bridge near the company's plant on Thursday afternoon. MINERS ENTOMBED IN BURNING MINE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Liege, Belgium, June 19.—Two hundred miners were entombed alive today when fire broke out in the Viellemarthaye colliery. The fire was caused by an explosion.

When the accident occurred 400 miners were under ground but 200 escaped.

Rescue crews were immediately organized in an attempt to rescue the entombed men.

DEMAND FOR VEAL.

Price of Calves is Rapidly Increasing Because of It.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—"The demand for veal has increased rapidly, and not only are the surplus dairy calves slaughtered but thousands of beef calves as well, until a calf will now sell for from $8 to $12 when only two to three months old."

This quotation from Farmer's Bulletin 588 of the United States department of agriculture means that unless the farmer has unlimited cheap feeds, it is usually more profitable to market the dairy or dual-purpose calves than to attempt to raise them, even though some of them might make good steers. While many deplore this heavy slaughter of calves and legislation against it has been urged, the consumer's demand must be met.

While the number of cattle has decreased, the demand for meat has naturally grown until not only have the exports nearly ceased, but the packers that they may provide cheaper meat are now buying many cattle that were formerly fed. The farmers who formerly bought nearly finished cattle as feeders have been compelled to pay higher prices for such cattle or to take thinner animals.

The cattle-feeding business has changed greatly during recent years. Formerly steers from four to six years of age were fed in large numbers on commercial feed at yards near granaries or mills, or upon large farms where only the roughage was grown, and the cattle were kept on full feed for six months or longer. This method became too expensive, so feeding is now conducted upon farms as a means of marketing farm products by coverting them into beef, while the manure produced is utilized as a [illegible] for maize

FIRE LADDIES RETURN.

Made Favorable Impression in Haverstraw Parade.

Wiltwyck hose company returned from Haverstraw on the Steamer Elihu Bunker on Thursday evening about 11 o'clock, having won great praise for their fine appearance and their beautiful silver and gold parade carriage coming in for much admiration from visiting firemen and the spectators. The local boys looked soldier-like in their new blue uniforms and throughout the line of march were frequently applauded. After the steamer docked the carriage was taken off and the wheels changed and headed by Mayor Canfield, Fire Chief Chipp and former Presidents Parsells and Quigley of the H. V. V. F. A. marched up Broadway. Accompanying them was the Kingston City fife, drum and bugle corps. Along the line of march there was a crowd of interested spectators and frequently a burning barrel testified to the esteem in which the brave fire laddies are held.

CLOWN LOST HIS HEAD.

Caught in Wires and Taken Off—It Was Artificial.

ORDINATION AT MT. ST. ALPHONSUS

The conferring of minor and major orders by the Rt. Rev. Thomas Cusack took place at the Redemptorist Seminary, Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, June 16, 17, 18. On the first of those dates nineteen young redemptorists received tonsure and minor orders, Fratres Ant. McBrearty, Jno. Melvin, Wm. McCullough, Ant. Cesare, Steph. Aulbach, Michael Golden, Thos. Coleman, Jos. Wiley, Francis Kenny, Thos. Tobin, Jno. Murphy, Joseph Radig, Jos. Claran, Joseph Sofka. Thursday, June 18, was the day long sighed for during twelve years of strenuous study by nine happy sons of St. Alphonsus. Bishop Cusack surrounded by a large gathering of the clergy both secular and religious, elevated these nine levites to the surpassing great dignity of the holy priesthood. ORDINATION AT MT. ST. ALPHONSUS

The conferring of minor and major orders by the Rt. Rev. Thomas Cusack took place at the Redemptorist Seminary, Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, June 16, 17, 18. On the first of those dates nineteen young redemptorists received tonsure and minor orders, Fratres Ant. McBrearty, Jno. Melvin, Wm. McCullough, Ant. Cesare, Steph. Aulbach, Michael Golden, Thos. Coleman, Jos. Wiley, Francis Kenny, Thos. Tobin, Jno. Murphy, Joseph Radig, Jos. Claran, Joseph Sofka. Thursday, June 18, was the day long sighed for during twelve years of strenuous study by nine happy sons of St. Alphonsus. Bishop Cusack surrounded by a large gathering of the clergy both secular and religious, elevated these nine levites to the surpassing great dignity of the holy priesthood. The beautiful chapel of the seminary was thronged with proud relatives and friends. Some come from distant points in order to witness the imposing ceremonies of ordination. The names of the newly ordained priests are as follows: The Rev. Eugene Miller, Philadelphia; the Rev. Dennis Call, Toronto, Canada; the Rev. Vincent Watson, New York city; the Rev. William McLaughlin, St. John, N. B.; the Rev. Francis Berrong, Philadelphia; the Rev. Jonathan Liska, Rockland Lake, N. Y.; the Rev. Jos. Bihlmeier, Buffalo, N. Y.; the Rev. Peter Ebner, Buffalo, N. Y.; the Rev. Thos. Raynor, Covenant, Ohio. Besi[de] [guests resident] ing members of the clergy: The Very Rev. Mgr. Koupert, V. G., Fathers McCue, Nageleisen, Gibney and the redemptorists. Fathers Jos. Schneider, provincial of the Baltimore province; Michael Sheehan, provincial consultor; William Brick, visitor of the Toronto vice province; George Dusold, Elias Schauer, Thomas Parr, George Hespelein, Bernard Beierschmidt, Jos. Shatt, Chas. Becker, Al. Schmering. After the services the young priests imparted their blessing to all present. God grant these newly anointed ones many years of fruitful labor in His vineyard.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 19.—The prophecy that District Attorney Whitman will be the next governor of New York if Tammany Hall controls the next election was made by Montgomory Hare when arguing at the Democratic conference in the Hotel Knickerbocker today on the Hare resolution offered as a substitute for that presented yesterday by D-Cady Herrick. Hare's resolution calls for two conventions before the primary election, one to be held by Tammany Hall adherents, the other by anti-Tammany Democrats, each convention to name a ticket.

"For," exclaimed Hare, "if Tammany Hall runs the next election in New York state, the present district attorney of New York county will be our next governor."

Despite Hare's protest against Tammany Hall domination and his long argument for his own resolution, the measure was defeated overwhelmingly, Hare being the only man at the conference voting for it.

Indications now are that before the conference closes the Herrick resolution of yesterday, which calls for an unofficial conference before the primary election to select a platform and to suggest candidates, will be adopted. It is expected, however, that the feature referring to candidates will be eliminated.

It is apparent that Tammany Hall and its followers intend to stand to the last for a strict enforcement of the new direct primary law. That was shown unofficially today at an informal discussion among Norman Mack, Senator Ferris of Utica and "Packy" McCabe.

"We stand for the law and the gospel," asserted Mack.

"What do you mean by that?" some one asked.

"By the law," interposed McCabe, "we mean the direct primary law, and by the gospel we mean the gospel of letting the people run things as they wish to run them."

Another substitute resolution that will come up for consideration by the conference has been offered by John G. Saxe. It calls for the appointment of a committee of 15—five from the state committee, five from among the county chairmen and five from the executive committee—to draft a platform for 1914 to be presented at a future conference subject to the call of the chairman. This resolution was laid on the table for later discussion.

DANGEROUS TRESPASSING.

Many Children Killed While Playing on Railroad Tracks.

The season of the year is approaching when children flock to the open air playground and as usual they will be found in increasing numbers about the railroad yard and right-of-way, playing or walking on the tracks, riding trains, "hopping" on and off cars and indulging in other dangerous pastimes. Have you any children of your own? Do you know whether or not they play upon or walk on the railroad tracks? Do you know that for the past ten years in this country there has been a yearly average of 1,300 little ones under 14 years of age killed while trespassing on railroads? Do you know there are countless children in nearly every locality who are without an arm or a leg they lost while "hopping" cars?

We ask you to think of this and use your efforts to prevent not only your own children, if you have any, but all children from trespassing on the railroad. You railroad men should make it your duty, as far as possible to drive children off the railroad right-of-way or out of the yards whenever you see them there. Wherever possible use your influence also to prevent older persons from trespassing. There has been an average of more than 5,000 persons killed annually in this country while trespassing on railroads, and the majority of them have been citizens or persons of the wage-earning class. It is usually this class of trespasser while using the tracks as a short cut to and from work, who get killed. Every railroad employe can exert great influence against this practice by warning offenders and pointing out to them the risk they are running of losing their lives. Agents along the line can in many instances induce heads of manufacturing plants to take steps that will prevent their employes from following this dangerous practice. The prevention of trespassing on railroads is a safety feature of the utmost importance and the co-operation of every railroad man is needed in the effort to stamp out this evil, not only to save the lives of trespassers, but to increase safety in operation. An engineman has a heart, feelings, and emotions like other human beings, and it is unnerving to run down or come near running down a trespasser or anybody else. An engineman who goes through such an experience of mental and nervous strain is, temporarily at least, distracted from proper attention to signals and other duties.—Safety Magazine.

Boy Scouts from Highland visited this place last Saturday. They had a good time as boys generally do.

You know boat races are June 26. The boat crews are just having sport evenings around Highland. They sing and after meals have some running and do not have much time to rest. They practice on the river every day and many from Highland do down and witness the rowing. There are a goodly number of boys in Highland who just enjoy boat races, just like West Park boys.

Joseph Sneed of Highland has put a dandy tin roof on the porch of Frank Green. He is also doing other work in different places.

With the help of Fred Simpson, the state road is coming along slow. But we hope to have it in time. Good things always come slow.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 19.—The prophecy that District Attorney Whitman will be the next governor of New York if Tammany Hall controls the next election was made by Montgomery Hare when arguing at the Democratic conference in the Hotel Knickerbocker today on the Hare resolution offered as a substitute for that presented yesterday by D-Cady Herrick. Hare's resolution calls for two conventions before the primary election, one to be held by Tammany Hall adherents, the other by anti-Tammany Democrats, each convention to name a ticket.

"For," exclaimed Hare, "if Tammany Hall runs the next election in New York state, the present district attorney of New York county will be our next governor."

Despite Hare's protest against Tammany Hall domination and his long argument for his own resolution, the measure was defeated overwhelmingly, Hare being the only man at the conference voting for it.

Indications now are that before the conference closes the Herrick resolution of yesterday, which calls for an unofficial conference before the primary election to select a platform and to suggest candidates, will be adopted. It is expected, however, that the feature referring to candidates will be eliminated.

It is apparent that Tammany Hall and its followers intend to stand to the last for a strict enforcement of the new direct primary law. That was shown unofficially today at an informal discussion among Norman Mack, Senator Ferris of Utica and "Packy" McCabe.

"We stand for the law and the gospel," asserted Mack.

"What do you mean by that?" some one asked.

"By the law," interposed McCabe, "we mean the direct primary law, and by the gospel we mean the gospel of letting the people run things as they wish to run them."

Another substitute resolution that will come up for consideration by the conference has been offered by John G. Saxe. It calls for the appointment of a committee of 15—five from the state committee, five from among the county chairmen and five from the executive committee—to draft a platform for 1914 to be presented at a future conference subject to the call of the chairman. This resolution was laid on the table for later discussion.

DANGEROUS TRESPASSING.

Many Children Killed While Playing on Railroad Tracks.

The season of the year is approaching when children flock to the open air playground and as usual they will be found in increasing numbers about the railroad yard and right-of-way, playing or walking on the tracks, riding trains, "hopping" on and off cars and indulging in other dangerous pastimes. Have you any children of your own? Do you know whether or not they play upon or walk on the railroad tracks? Do you know that for the past ten years in this country there has been a yearly average of 1,300 little ones under 14 years of age killed while trespassing on railroads? Do you know there are countless children in nearly every locality who are without an arm or a leg they lost while "hopping" cars?

We ask you to think of this and use your efforts to prevent not only your own children, if you have any, but all children from trespassing on the railroad. You railroad men should make it your duty, as far as possible to drive children off the railroad right-of-way or out of the yards whenever you see them there. Wherever possible use your influence also to prevent older persons from trespassing. There has been an average of more than 5,000 persons killed annually in this country while trespassing on railroads, and the majority of them have been citizens or persons of the wage-earning class. It is usually this class of trespasser while using the tracks as a short cut to and from work, who get killed. Every railroad employe can exert great influence against this practice by warning offenders and pointing out to them the risk they are running of losing their lives. Agents along the line can in many instances induce heads of manufacturing plants to take steps that will prevent their employes from following this dangerous practice. The prevention of trespassing on railroads is a safety feature of the utmost importance and the co-operation of every railroad man is needed in the effort to stamp out this evil, not only to save the lives of trespassers, but to increase safety in operation. An engineman has a heart, feelings, and emotions like other human beings, and it is unnerving to run down or come near running down a trespasser or anybody else. An engineman who goes through such an experience of mental and nervous strain is, temporarily at least, distracted from proper attention to signals and other duties.—Safety Magazine.

The building at the junction of the state road with the Bushnelville road, on The Glenbrook property, has been demolished and removed, and the land on which it stood will be laid out as an ornamental garden. This old building, recently used as a barn, and which was formerly a store, has long been an eyesore, and the present owners of the property are being congratulated on the improvement they have effected to that part of the town.

Walter Lehmann of New York is the guest of Mrs. Wood.

"Wanted—A Man" will be the Rev. D. N. F. Blakeney's subject next Sunday morning at the M. E. Church. Special music is being arranged.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 19, 1914.

After an interview with Charles F. Murphy, Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch declares that "of course he is in favor of woman suffrage." We don't doubt the lady's word for a moment. Murphy reads the papers and also gets private political advices, and he has heard from Chicago. He knows how woman suffrage helped "Bathhouse John" and "Hinky Dink" to win the last election by unprecedented majorities. He knows that the wives of his reliable constituents all vowed when married to "obey" their husbands, while the women associated with the "uplift" scorned to do anything of the kind, and can be counted on to emphasize their independence by refusing to follow the lead of any "mere man." If Murphy did not favor woman suffrage he would be an idiot.

Secretary of State Mitchell May is doing much to educate public sentiment regarding the matter of speed limits for automobiles. In an interview he says: "Speed limits, in fact, tend to make the driver suspend the exercise of his own judgment and act under the sanction of a supposed authority; and the way to stop accidents is not to establish artificial restrictions which cannot meet every case, but to allow the driver free scope for his own judgment and hold him fully responsible for whatever happens in consequence of what he does." The Secretary also takes strong ground in favor of jail sentences—without the option of a fine—on serious offenders. Reckless drivers seem usually to have money or friends who will pay fines for them. Temporary and permanent suspensions of the privilege of driving are also mentioned as excellent deterrents of recklessness. In cities the legal speed is usually fifteen miles an hour, but there are cases in which it is criminal to drive at half that rate, while there are other emergencies in which it is necessary to spurt up for a moment to perhaps thirty miles an hour. the law has not yet been adapted to it, and it will be years yet before it will be regulated perfectly.

According to United States Commissioner of Education Claxton, there are in the United States more than 5,500,000 persons above the age of ten years who cannot read and write. He estimates—and no one will argue that he exaggerates—that the earning power of each illiterate is $100 a year less in consequence of his disability, so that the nation is losing a half billion dollars a year from this cause. The subject is important enough to deserve many times more attention than it is receiving. As matters stand in most of the states, children under fourteen are mostly herded into school by truant officers, but if by chance any child passes that age without learning to read and write, he remains ignorant all his life. This is not necessary, for experience has shown that large numbers of illiterates from forty to eighty years of age have received instruction, having learned its value by experience. The hotbed of illiteracy is, of course, in the Southern States, and half of the whole number of illiterates are negroes, but they are constantly passing their state lines and affecting the statistics of neighboring states. This is unfortunate, but we are not quite ready to subscribe to Mr. Claxton's proposal that the Federal Government shall take the whole business of education out of local control and administer it from Washington.

An individual would be considered crazy or a crook if he tried to make a record for economy in his family expenses for 1914 by "hanging up" all his creditors who would stand it until 1915. Yet that is just what the great State of New York is doing. In order to avoid the necessity for a direct tax, Governor Glynn has vetoed a large number of items in the appropriation bill regarding the justice of which there is no question, and which will surely have to be paid some day. Among these there are two items aggregating over $300,000 for printing which is being done now and should be paid for October 1, but which will remain owing until some future legislature appropriates the money. Another item vetoed is the appropriation for carrying on the work of abolishing grade crossings, and nobody knows how many lives will be sacrificed to make political capital for Democratic politicians. The Governor also cut out the appropriation for investigating private banks, disregardful of the conditions exposed by the Siegel scandal. The list might be prolonged greatly. When Governor Glynn took office he declared that the annual supply bill should be abolished, but as a result of his action the total of that measure next year will be greater than that of any of its predecessors. Among all the vetoes, however, there is not one, so far as we can detect, which keeps a penny out of the pockets of Tammany politicians. The Governor's experience as a newspaper man has been of little value to him if he really believes that tactics like these will strengthen himself or his party with the voters.

EMPHASIS ON THE WRONG THING.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

The Rev. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, not a wife herself, as everyone knows, has been rather widely quoted of late because of her outspoken disapproval of the marriage service, which she says it too much of "a poll parrot affair." She does not hesitate to express the opinion that the ceremony in which it is used is lacking in solemnity, dignity and character. She has been accused, she adds, of making light of the nuptial ceremony because she refuses to follow the usual method of reciting, but she counts marriage too sacred an institution to permit any allotted pledge.

And as to the word "obey," she thinks it should have no place in the marriage contract, for it implies a disgrace to promise such a thing, a still greater disgrace to expect it."

And the New York "Sun," ever markedly hostile to the first little feminist sign, cannot refrain from repeating those old admonishments of St. Paul, who certainly was faithful enough in the way of counseling wifely obedience, and of spreading abroad to the women of his time the the cheerful doctrine that "the husband is head of the wife" and that the wife must submissively yield.

And isn't it funny—or is it just strange—that the obedience that prevailed in the day of St. Paul should be counted good to the end of time? Dr. Shaw calls it neither funny nor strange, but positively wicked, as part of the marriage contract; while the "Sun" apparently believes that what was right and fair for women centuries ago is right and fair today.

Dr. Shaw declares that for all the folk she has joined in holy wedlock the ceremony has been adapted to the particular conditions presented, and that[illegible] out well. [illegible] ped into the promises. But the "Sun" raises its editorial voice in violent, if sarcastic, protest, and shakes its editorial head in dismay and in regret for the evil days upon which marriage has fallen.

But one thinks that both the doctor and the editor have placed the emphasis upon the wrong thing. Not that one does not agree with Dr. Shaw that the word "obey" should no more have a place in the marriage service that the meaningless clause about endowing a wife "with all my wordly goods," when she is not endowed at all, and should not be; but that the great marrying public has greater need of light upon other things.

For one has but to keep in passing touch with the news of the day to realize, thoughtfully and earnestly, that the one great urge to slip into the solemn marriage service is a fervent prayer for harmony.

To those of us who steadfastly believe that there should be long, long and very serious thoughts before the last step is taken in the binding ceremony of marriage, it seems that the one great subject for comment and criticism in this regard is the light way in which marriages are contracted, the still more flippant way in which they are dissolved.

And beside, if newspapers are minded to be sarcastic or caustic or to throw on the light anywhere, it would seem well to denounce the abominable practice of publishing the most ardent love-letters written by "soul-mates," "affinities" and folk of that class, as well as scraps of the tenderest conversations—all aired for the sake of breaking a marriage tie.

The elimination of the word "obey" from the marriage service can do nothing worse than in ritualistic theory place husbands and wives in the comfortable way of walking side by side, as they cannot walk if one does all the leading. But it does seem that the wide pubicity given to unsavory correspondence between folk who have no right to correspond at all and to entanglements that ought never to come serve only to cheapen the notion of the perpetuity and the sanctity of marriage. Young folk who are quite firm in their ideas of life, its duties and all, read and listen and remain true to their own conception of life at its best; but there are some who are only impressed with the great glory of being anybody's "affinity," and they sigh for a chance.

And if marriage, as the "Sun" sharply intimates, is showing signs of being "played out," the public airing of such unbeautiful cases surely will help it along. Of course the "Sun" is sarcastic rather than serious, but one suggests that if it must scold at all it would do better to attack the widespread publicity given to details that drag idealism into the very mire and to pass by the protest against the use of the suggestive "obey."

For, if, as is often said, the word is empty of meaning, why continue to carry it along? And if the "affinity" letters and the "soul-mate" stories have a pernicious effect, why should not editor folk lend the weight of their words to force them far in the background?

Eye-Openers.

George Ade, at the Chicago Athletic Club, entertained a group of bachelors with a marriage story.

"An old widower" he said, "was telling a group of cronies in the Brook general store that he intended [illegible] married [illegible] said, longer. When the end comes, it will be mighty pleasant to have a wife at my bedside to close my eyes.'

Why Haste Was Desired.

A local paper tells of a clergyman who received this note teling him to perform a marriage ceremony:

"This is to give you notis that I and Miss Jemima Arabella Brearly is coming to your church on Saturday afternoon next to undergo the operation of matrimoney at your hands. Please be prompt, as the cab is hired by the hour."—London Opinion.

Even So.

"Ask any one you chance to meet on the stree t what he is doing and he will, in nine cases out of ten, tell you he is writing a play," said Eugene Walter, author of several successes. "Every one has joined the play writing handicap now. I asked a motorman on the street car the other day how his play was getting on and he said:

"'I've got it all finished except the climax of the last act. That's been bothering me a great deal. Now in the second act I have the hero——'

"'Forty-second street,' yelled the conductor, and I had to get off the car just as I was about to hear how the hero saved the girl in the second act.

"All of which reminds me of something I heard an amateur novelist say one time in Cincinnati. I met this young newspaper man. He, like nine-tenths of all other newspaper men, was a 'bug' on fiction. He had the script of a novel tucked under his arm.

"'How are you making out?' I asked him.

"'Rotten,' he answered.

"'What's the troble?'

"'Nothing,' he went on, 'only the trouble is nowadays that us novelists hatch a plot, spend a lot of time writing it and then find that our plot has been used as a short story by the late O. Henry.

"And," continued Walter, "the young novelist is absolutely right."—New York Tribune.

Way He Went.

The Jew peddler rapped timidly at the kitchen door. Mrs. Kelley, angry at being interrpted in her washing, flung open the door, and glowered at him.

"Did ye wish to see me?" she demanded, in threatening tones.

The peddler backed off the steps.

"Vell, if I did," he assured her, with an apologetic grin, "I got my vish, dank you."—Everybody's.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 19, 1914.

After an interview with Charles F. Murphy, Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch declares that "of course he is in favor of woman suffrage." We don't doubt the lady's word for a moment. Murphy reads the papers and also gets private political advices, and he has heard from Chicago. He knows how woman suffrage helped "Bathhouse John" and "Hinky Dink" to win the last election by unprecedented majorities. He knows that the wives of his reliable constituents all vowed when married to "obey" their husbands, while the women associated with the "uplift" scorned to do anything of the kind, and can be counted on to emphasize their independence by refusing to follow the lead of any "mere man." If Murphy did not favor woman suffrage he would be an idiot.

Secretary of State Mitchell May is doing much to educate public sentiment regarding the matter of speed limits for automobiles. In an interview he says: "Speed limits, in fact, tend to make the driver suspend the exercise of his own judgment and act under the sanction of a supposed authority; and the way to stop accidents is not to establish artificial restrictions which cannot meet every case, but to allow the driver free scope for his own judgment and hold him fully responsible for whatever happens in consequence of what he does." The Secretary also takes strong ground in favor of jail sentences—without the option of a fine—on serious offenders. Reckless drivers seem usually to have money or friends who will pay fines for them. Temporary and permanent suspensions of the privilege of driving are also mentioned as excellent deterrents of recklessness. In cities the legal speed is usually fifteen miles an hour, but there are cases in which it is criminal to drive at half that rate, while there are other emergencies in which it is necessary to spurt up for a moment to perhaps thirty miles an hour. The law has not yet been adapted to it, and it will be years yet before it will be regulated perfectly.

According to United States Commissioner of Education Claxton, there are in the United States more than 5,500,000 persons above the age of ten years who cannot read and write. He estimates—and no one will argue that he exaggerates—that the earning power of each illiterate is $100 a year less in consequence of his disability, so that the nation is losing a half billion dollars a year from this cause. The subject is important enough to deserve many times more attention than it is receiving. As matters stand in most of the states, children under fourteen are mostly herded into school by truant officers, but if by chance any child passes that age without learning to read and write, he remains ignorant all his life. This is not necessary, for experience has shown that large numbers of illiterates from forty to eighty years of age have received instruction, having learned its value by experience. The hotbed of illiteracy is, of course, in the Southern States, and half of the whole number of illiterates are negroes, but they are constantly passing their state lines and affecting the statistics of neighboring states. This is unfortunate, but we are not quite ready to subscribe to Mr. Claxton's proposal that the Federal Government shall take the whole business of education out of local control and administer it from Washington.

An individual would be considered crazy or a crook if he tried to make a record for economy in his family expenses for 1914 by "hanging up" all his creditors who would stand it until 1915. Yet that is just what the great State of New York is doing. When Governor Glynn took office he declared that the annual supply bill should be abolished, but as a result of his action the total of that measure next year will be greater than that of any of its predecessors. Among all the vetoes, however, there is not one, so far as we can detect, which keeps a penny out of the pockets of Tammany politicians. The Governor's experience as a newspaper man has been of little value to him if he really believes that tactics like these will strengthen himself or his party with the voters.

ADVOCATES CHANGE IN RULES

Most Astute Baseball Men Admit Problem of Intentional Pass Is Hard Problem to Solve.

Jim McGuire, for many years a leading major league catcher and now acting as coach and scout for the Detroit team, declares that the greatest and best change in the rules of baseball was that making foul balls strikes if the batsman has less than two strikes upon him. Says McGuire:

"The rule met the problem brought up by the constant fouling off of balls by batters until the poor pitcher was tired, and because of sheer exhaustion had to put the ball over the plate with nothing on it but the hide that the factory endowed it with. It was an easy matter for some of the clever men of ye olden days to foul off a dozen balls until that one clothed in nakedness lobbed up to the plate for slaughter.

"The next problem that must be faced and solved is the intentional pass affair. There is apparently no way in which to force a pitcher to pitch to a man if he wants to pass him. It has become so bad nowadays that the managers of the clubs simply tell their men when to pass certain batters and the pitcher and catcher go through the motions of pitching to him, while the crowds in the grand stand generally howl in derision. They always do it if it's a home man at bat, with a couple of men waiting to score and one run needed to tie.

"This is the one problem that the most astute baseball men in the country admit there seems to be no solution for. They also admit that it is a problem that must be solved.

"It is only in recent years that the intentional pass problem has come up. Back in the old days there was no such thing as the intentional pass. It wasn't considered a game or a necessary thing. But today it is considered a part of strategic baseball.

"Even the best batsmen hit safely only about one in four times. A .300 hitter gets three hits in ten times officially at bat. He faces a pitcher oftener than that, however, with his passes and bases for being hit by pitched ball.

"The odds are all with the pitcher even when facing the best batters. Nevertheless, few managers refuse to use the intentional pass and how they can be forced to discard it is the question that must be settled."

CHARLIE DOOIN VERY LUCKY

Despite Ravages of Federals Philadelphia National Team Is Making Excellent Showing.

Charlie Dooin has been lucky. The Federals tried to ruin his team, and did succeed in shooting his infield full of holes, but though they robbed him of Seaton, Brennan and Cavnitz they failed to weaken his pitching staff.

"An old widower" he [illegible] at holy wedlock telling a [illegible] Philadelphia Nationals appear to ha[illegible] strong a staff as any club in the Nationals, Alexander is the same old

Grover Cleveland Alexander.

Alexander. Chalmers has come through in great shape, while Mayer and Marshall have developed and now appear to be dependable twirlers.

Besides this, he has grabbed two youngsters who are likely to show a lot before the year ends. Oeschger and Jacobs look as though they had the goods and only need a little more experience to deliver.

The infield problem, however, is not solved. The loss of Doolan and Knabe has been serious.

Good Sunday Combination.

President Ward of the Brooklyn Feds will not permit his team to play on Sundays. Branch Rickey refuses to manage his crew on Sunday, and Mathewson refuses to pitch on Sundays. Why not make Rickey Ward's manager and Matty his star pitcher?

His Jinx a Sticker.

George Dauss cannot overcome his St. Louis jinx, it seems. The young right-hander always has a lot of stuff against the Browns but is seldom very successful in getting it past the batters.

MANY ORDERS FOR WEMLINGER PILING

Original Plans For Plant in Rondout Modified to Provide For Heavier Machinery—Specifications Nearly Completed.

It was announced recently that the Wemlinger Steel Piling Company of New York, had taken title to the Gill property on the Rondout creek in Kingston, for the purpose of erecting a new plant there. It was expected that actual construction would be under way before this, but some important changes, especially the increase in size of the machinery finally selected, made it necessary to modify the original plans.

Architect Gerard W. Betz is rapidly completing the revised drawings and specifications, and will be ready for bids before the end of this week. The work will then be rushed because the company expects a heavy increase in its business before the latter part of this summer and early fall.

Among the latest orders booked by the company, is one dated June 13 for two carloads of twenty-four foot piling to be used in the construction of the big $400,000 intercepting sewer in Albany. Nine thousand six hundred square feet of Wemlinger piling weighing 144,000 pounds make up this shipment. Another nice order was one received June 6 for shipment to Miami, Fla. In that case, one carload of sheet-piling was loaded on the steamer at New York, which will deliver the material at Jacksonville whence the piling will be taken by train to destination.

Two new orders are about to be executed for shipment, respectively, to Sydney, Australia and to Liverpool, England. Wednesday evening, just as President Wemlinger was leaving his office on his way to Kingston, an order was received from M. H. Bancel of Paris, France. This gentleman is the official contractor for the large French Gas Company operating all the gas plants in Paris, and will, no doubt, become a large user.

It is, therefore, evident that there is a progressive improvement in the company's business, although reports received, not only from all parts of this country, but also from many different foreign countries, are to the effect that construction work, while far from normal, is slowly improving. Consequently, the directors of the company feel much encouraged and they are determined to build up a business in Kingston that will make that city known the world over.

HURLEY.

Hurley, June 19.—Children's Day was celebrated last Sunday in the village church and the observance was one of the most successful ones ever given in the village. As the day was also Flag Day, the opportunity offered for effective decoration of the church with flowers and flags was readily utilized and a very beautiful appearance was made. The program offered was a varied one, all carried out by the children, consisting of individual and class work in music and recitations and was well and pleasingly carried out reflecting the highest credit on the faithful work of teachers and scholars. The pastor gave a short address on "opportunity" which made a fitting close to the day's celebration.

The Ladies' Missionary Society met at Miss Luella Snyder's on Wednesday. There was a large attendance who listened to an interesting program. The refreshments served after the program was also highly appreciated.

Mrs. Boice is stopping at Mrs. Maxon's.

Miss Carr of Mt. Holyoke College and Miss Wood of Massachusetts were the guests of Miss Bruyn, who has just graduated from Mt. Holyoke College.

The well makers busy at Dr. Loughran's bungalow on "The Knoll," have bored down to a depth of about 115 feet without as yet reaching the water vein.

The Rev. Fred Foertner made a hurried visit in the village last week.

There is to be on the parsonage lawn on Friday evening, June 19, a lawn social where in addition to a good social time there will be on sale ice cream and cake to help along the festivities and the proceeds of which will be devoted to church uses.

PINE GROVE.

Pine Grove, June 18.—Percy Croswell of Rock City was a Sunday visitor of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Croswell.

Mrs. Henry Burton called on Mr. and Mrs. James Freese at Fish Creek on Wednesday evening.

Marguerite Bishop is spending a few days with her grandmother, Mrs. Ethan Yager, at West Saugerties.

The Larkin Club of ten will hold its next meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Minnerly, July 16. If stormy next fair day.

AT GREENKILL PARK.

Illustrated Description of Beautiful Resort in Saturday's Freeman.

Occasionally items appear in the newspapers referring to Greenkill Park, the beautiful summer resort built up along the Rondout creek about three miles from this city, but few who read them realize the wonderful beauties of the place or the vast amount of work that has been done in restoring one of the most beautiful spots in Ulster county to its original natural attractiveness. A Freeman reporter has been looking over Greenkill Park, asking questions and making pictures that will give some idea of what the place is like. An illustrated description of Greenkill Park will appear in The Freeman on Saturday and to those who have not visited Greenkill since the old noisy and dusty days of the D. & H. Canal and the Connelly and Shafer cement works it will be a surprise and a revelation.

Tennis Match at Port Ewen.

There will be a tennis match between the Tennis Association of Rhinebeck and the C. E. Tennis Association of Port Ewen, on Saturday afternoon at 2:15 at Port Ewen. We are informed that Rhinebeck has a number of stars among their delegation who are bent on defeating the boys, who this year for the first in their lives have crossed rackets with visiting teams. All who desire to see an interesting match can do so on the local grounds.

New Industry for Kingston.

A representative of the Ferro Motor Company was in Kingston this week and made arrangements to use Kingston as a distributing point for their well known rowboat motors. These motors can be attached to any rowboat and converted into a motorboat in a few seconds. This will be a great addition to Kingston industries. The Canfield Supply Company will have charge of the distribution.

English Actor Dead.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, June 19.—Brandon Thomas, a well known English actor, died today at his London residence. Among the plays in which he starred were "Charley's Aunt," "The Lodgers," "The Color Sergeant" and "Women are so Serious."

Graduation Time

Graduation is an event worthy of some token of remembrance. Whether it is the grinning youngster passing from the primary to the grammar grades or the more serious-minded college senior, graduation means achievement and work well done. No time is more appropriate for a gift nor could one be surrounded by happier associations.

Our work is well done, too. Long ago we graduated and took our place as jewelers to meet your every want. At this season our stock is particularly rich in the things that are most suitable for commencement gifts. Rings, la vallieres, pendants and chains for the girls; fobs, scarf pins and watches for the boys. The present need not be nor should it be an expensive one, but you should insist upon the finest quality, and that is what we can offer you.

MANY ORDERS FOR WEMLINGER PILING

Original Plans For Plant in Rondout Modified to Provide For Heavier Machinery—Specifications Nearly Completed.

It was announced recently that the Wemlinger Steel Piling Company of New York, had taken title to the Gill property on the Rondout creek in Kingston, for the purpose of erecting a new plant there. It was expected that actual construction would be under way before this, but some important changes, especially the increase in size of the machinery finally selected, made it necessary to modify the original plans.

Architect Gerard W. Betz is rapidly completing the revised drawings and specifications, and will be ready for bids before the end of this week. The work will then be rushed because the company expects a heavy increase in its business before the latter part of this summer and early fall.

Among the latest orders booked by the company, is one dated June 13 for two carloads of twenty-four foot piling to be used in the construction of the big $400,000 intercepting sewer in Albany. Nine thousand six hundred square feet of Wemlinger piling weighing 144,000 pounds make up this shipment. Another nice order was one received June 6 for shipment to Miami, Fla. In that case, one carload of sheet-piling was loaded on the steamer at New York, which will deliver the material at Jacksonville whence the piling will be taken by train to destination.

Two new orders are about to be executed for shipment, respectively, to Sydney, Australia and to Liverpool, England. Wednesday evening, just as President Wemlinger was leaving his office on his way to Kingston, an order was received from M. H. Bancel of Paris, France. This gentleman is the official contractor for the large French Gas Company operating all the gas plants in Paris, and will, no doubt, become a large user.

It is, therefore, evident that there is a progressive improvement in the company's business, although reports received, not only from all parts of this country, but also from many different foreign countries, are to the effect that construction work, while far from normal, is slowly improving. Consequently, the directors of the company feel much encouraged and they are determined to build up a business in Kingston that will make that city known the world over.

HURLEY.

Hurley, June 19.—Children's Day was celebrated last Sunday in the village church and the observance was one of the most successful ones ever given in the village. As the day was also Flag Day, the opportunity offered for effective decoration of the church with flowers and flags was readily utilized and a very beautiful appearance was made. The program offered was a varied one, all carried out by the children, consisting of individual and class work in music and recitations and was well and pleasingly carried out, reflecting the highest credit on the faithful work of teachers and scholars. The pastor gave a short address on "opportunity" which made a fitting close to the day's celebration.

The Ladies' Missionary Society met at Miss Luella Snyder's on Wednesday. There was a large attendance who listened to an interesting program. The refreshments served after the program was also highly appreciated.

Mrs. Boice is stopping at Mrs. Maxon's.

Miss Carr of Mt. Holyoke College and Miss Wood of Massachusetts were the guests of Miss Bruyn, who has just graduated from Mt. Holyoke College.

The well makers busy at Dr. Loughran's bungalow on "The Knoll," have bored down to a depth of about 115 feet without as yet reaching the water vein.

The Rev. Fred Foertner made a hurried visit in the village last week.

There is to be on the parsonage lawn on Friday evening, June 19, a lawn social where in addition to a good social time there will be on sale ice cream and cake to help along the festivities and the proceeds of which will be devoted to church uses.

The trade estimates that the sales of automobiles for 1914 will aggregate a total of $600,000,000.

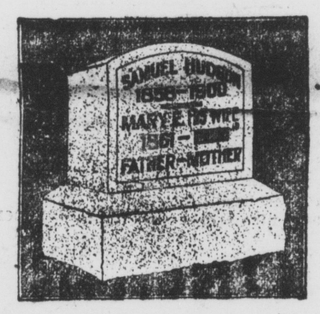

And yet some pessimists talk about dull times.

It is interesting to note that this immense volume of business has been largely built up through persistent advertising linked with consistent salesmanship.

And more enlightening still is the fact that much the larger percentage of automobile advertising is used in the daily newspapers.

The newspaper advertising which in most cases is directly linked up with the name of the local dealer is the sales message that brings direct results.

The automobile is a useful servant, but had there not been such aggressive and intelligent advertising its manufacture would still be among the infant industries.

RESERVOIR DAMS ARE COMPLETED

With the completion of the West Hurley dike, all construction work on the dam and dikes of the Ashokan reservoir has been finished, but it will be some time before the various plants and equipment can be removed and still more time will be required to get the region into a condition which will give the place a "presentable appearance."

The work on the West Hurley dike was finished by Winston & Company, the contractors, on Wednesday morning at eleven o'clock, and in celebration of the event, all the steam whistles on the work were blown for an hour. It was known the day before that the work would be finished some time during Wednesday morning, and preparations for the celebration were begun. As soon as the work was finished, signal was given and all the whistles along the work screamed with joy.

The contractors are now engaged in laying ties and rails along the old roadbed of the Ulster & Delaware railroad, and the track now being laid will be usedd for conveying the engines, cars, materials, plant and equipment of the contractors away from the places where they have been engaged. This work will occupy two months.

Second Championship Game.

Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock the baseball teams representing The Freeman and Leader will again meet on Athletic Field for the second in a series of three games to determine the newspaper championship of the county. Like the American polo team which went down to ignoble defeat at the hands of the British polo-ists, The Freeman lads were not in condition, but since their disgrace have been kept at the training table and a strict diet has been adhered to. Manager Munch and a most careful chef have been watching the action of the diet on the play of the athletes and declare they will be in the pink of condition when game is called Saturday afternoon. The fans of Kingston can expect that there will be no bush league stuff pulled during the game and that "boots" and "ivories" have been relegated to the "pi" box.

DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM.

Entertainment of Ladies' Aid Society a Great Success.

The chapel of the First Reformed Dutch Church was filled with a delighted and enthusiastic audience on Wednesday evening, the occasion being the entertainment given by the Ladies' Aid Society of that church. The program was opened with a solo by Miss Woods of Hatfield, Mass., who played Moszkowski's "Melodie," with fine musical appreciation. Miss Woods has a very musical touch and plays with grace and expression. Her second piano number was the Chopin Waltz, Op. 34, No. 2 and both numbers so pleased the audience that she was obliged to give encores in each instance. Mr. Leonard who sang "Jean," by Burleigh, "Four Leaf Clover" by Brownell; "A May Morning, by Denza and "A Dream," by Barlett, possesses a very sweet tenor voice of considerable compass, and he, too was obliged to respond to the applause with encores. Miss Riseley varied the musical trend of the program with her charming readings. She first gave that beautiful description of a full day as found in "Corot's Letter" by Corot. Of course an encore was inevitable. In the second half of the program she gave a group of three shorter numbers. "Sh," a child's lament was given with a realism that was truly pathetic even with its touch of humor. "Who's Afraid?" was another realistic piece of child life, while Kipling's "If" was given a remarkable interpretation. A clever little encore followed. It was good indeed to hear Mr. Jackson's fine, rich baritone voice in Kingston once more, and he was given a hearty and cordial welcome by his many friends. His first number was Flegier's "Le Cor" (The Horn) to which he gave an encore a delightful Scotch ballad. His second solo was Hawley's ever popular "Bedouin Love Song." This was given such a hearty appreciation that Mr. Jackson sang once again. Miss Gertrude Bruyn, who has just graduated from Mount Holyoke Seminary was quite the prima donna of the evening. She possesses an unusually clear, birdlike and high but musical soprano voice and she sings with an enthusiastic appreciation of the composition sung that is indeed refreshing. Her first and most elaborate number was the Gounod "Je Veux Vivre," which was admirably given and to the applause of which she responded with a delightful short number. An old English and the ever-lovely Scotch Ballad, "Red, Red Red Rose," were her two concluding numbers and they were both charmingly given, calling for one last appearance. Taken altogether the entertainment was a decided success.

DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM.

Entertainment of Ladies' Aid Society a Great Success.

The chapel of the First Reformed Dutch Church was filled with a delighted and enthusiastic audience on Wednesday evening, the occasion being the entertainment given by the Ladies' Aid Society of that church. The program was opened with a solo by Miss Woods of Hatfield, Mass., who played Moszkowski's "Melodie," with fine musical appreciation. Miss Woods has a very musical touch and plays with grace and expression. Her second piano number was the Chopin Waltz, Op. 34, No. 2 and both numbers so pleased the audience that she was obliged to give encores in each instance. Mr. Leonard who sang "Jean," by Burleigh, "Four Leaf Clover" by Brownell; "A May Morning, by Denza and "A Dream," by Barlett, possesses a very sweet tenor voice of considerable compass, and he, too was obliged to respond to the applause with encores. Miss Riseley varied the musical trend of the program with her charming readings. She first gave that beautiful description of a full day as found in "Corot's Letter" by Corot. Of course an encore was inevitable. In the second half of the program she gave a group of three shorter numbers. "Sh," a child's lament was given with a realism that was truly pathetic even with its touch of humor. "Who's Afraid?" was another realistic piece of child life, while Kipling's "If" was given a remarkable interpretation. A clever little encore followed. It was good indeed to hear Mr. Jackson's fine, rich baritone voice in Kingston once more, and he was given a hearty and cordial welcome by his many friends. His first number was Flegier's "Le Cor" (The Horn) to which he gave an encore a delightful Scotch ballad. His second solo was Hawley's ever popular "Bedouin Love Song." This was given such a hearty appreciation that Mr. Jackson sang once again. Miss Gertrude Bruyn, who has just graduated from Mount Holyoke Seminary was quite the prima donna of the evening. She possesses an unusually clear, birdlike and high but musical soprano voice and she sings with an enthusiastic appreciation of the composition sung that is indeed refreshing. Her first and most elaborate number was the Gounod "Je Veux Vivre," which was admirably given and to the applause of which she responded with a delightful short number. An old English and the ever-lovely Scotch Ballad, "Red, Red Red Rose," were her two concluding numbers and they were both charmingly given, calling for one last appearance. Taken altogether the entertainment was a decided success.

Jesse Kiersted and sister, Edna, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Lasher at Woodstock on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Addison Longendyke of Kingston are visitors at the home of Jason Longendyke.

BLOOMINGTON.

Bloomington, June 9.—The Rev. Ferdinand Wilson of the Bergen Point Reformed Church, Bayonne, N. J., will preach on Sunday morning at Bloomington, and at St. Remy in the afternoon, exchanging pulpits with the pastor, who was at Princeton Seminary last week attending the summer school and who returned home in time for Children's Day and preached to the young people on the Book of Ruth.

The cottages at Greenkill Park are about all rented and will be all occupied within the next ten days. The park looks very beautiful and Mr. Rose is entitled to infinite credit for the taste there displayed in architecture and landscape gardening.

MEDIATION HALTED AGAIN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

The Late Miss Louise Reger.

At a special meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Reformed Church, held in the chapel, June 18, the following resolutions were adopted: "God in His all wise Providence having seen fit to remove from our midst our beloved member, Miss Lou Reger, resolved, that in her death our society has sustained a great loss and it is but fitting that we express our appreciation of her worth of character. She was a faithful attendant at our meetings and we shall miss her face. She was unmindful of self, having the interests of others always at heart; her hand was ever outstretched to aid the needy; she was always found on the side of justice and the right and a true follower of her Lord and Master. May the mantle of her Christian spirit fall on us who remain and prove an inspiration to us."

The Late Miss Louise Reger.

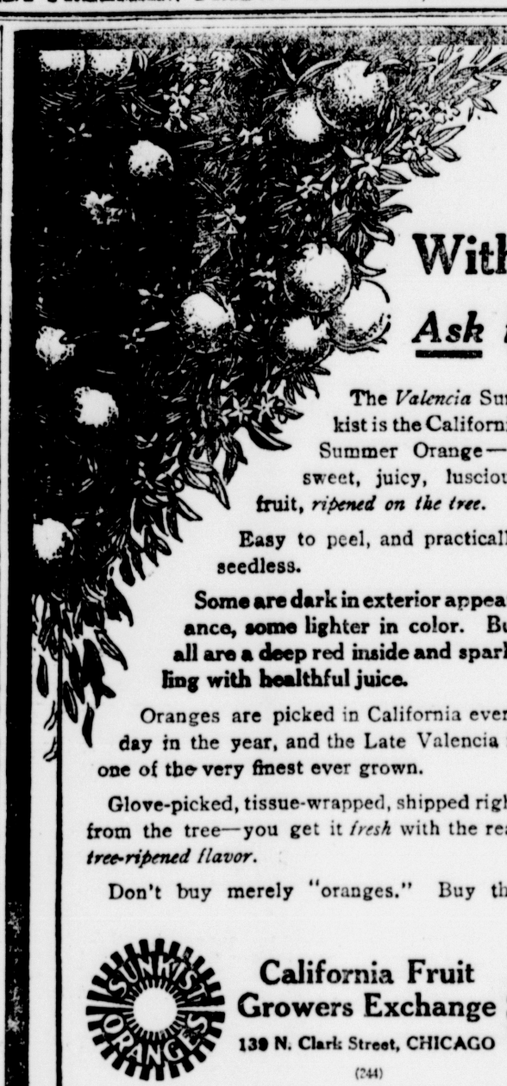

At a special meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Reformed Church, held in the chapel, June 18, the following resolutions were adopted: "God in His all wise Providence having seen fit to remove from our midst our beloved member, Miss Lou Reger, resolved, that in her death our society has sustained a great loss and it is but fitting that we express our appreciation of her worth of character. She was a faithful attendant at our meetings and we shall miss her face. She was unmindful of self, having the interests of others always at heart; her hand was ever outstretched to aid the needy; she was always found on the side of justice and the right and a true follower of her Lord and Master. May the mantle of her Christian spirit fall on us who remain and prove an inspiration to us."

ADVERTISERS ESTIMATE THE VALUE BY THE CIRCULATION.

And The Freeman has a circulation double that of all other Kingston dailies combined.

The Seekers

Say howdy to the Seekers; they are people just like you;
Their family is large, and still they're never sad nor blue.
If the solution of their problem you'd really like to know,
Well, here's the answer: What they want, The Freeman quick will show.

Work Seeker is a worthy type of man who wants a job;
He's not afraid of labor and he's not at all a snob.
He knows enough to read the ads, and pretty soon a bank
Acquires a new depositor who has the ad to thank.

The Seeker Feminine has found that, be she young or old,
The Freeman solves her troubles though they're great and manifold.
Perhaps she wants to travel or perhaps to settle down
To pursue her chosen calling in a near suburban town.

Whatever is her wish, she never fears an empty purse;
For, would she be a salesgirl or a waitress or a nurse,
Or treat with steaks and pancakes on a shiny kitchen range,
She can find her niche directly in the Seekers' Want Exchange.

M. Ployer is a Seeker too. It is his greatest joy
To find men tried and trusty who will stay in his employ.
He calmly trusts The Freeman, and see how well 'tis done:
The men who come to him for jobs all rank A Number One.

Stenographers who read his ad and for his hiring come
Are always up on spelling and unslaved by Demon Gum.
So when he looks about and sees his bright, industrious force
He's not surprised; he simply says, "'Twas The Freeman, of course."

Here's Mrs. Seeker; dearie me! Her case is sad indeed;
A laundress or a seamstress or a cook may be her need.
And still, why fret? Experience has taught her what to do.
She knows that, though her woes be great, The Freeman sees her through.

And pretty soon a household filled with petty cares and mean
Will be blithely, calmly running like a smoothly oiled machine.
And she may spend her day downtown, in stores or at the play,
Serenely sure that things at home wag on the self-same way.

Now all the Seekers you have met, and don't you like their style?
If you would be a Seeker, too, come greet them with a smile.
And if you like our Seeker Song and think it really nice,
Pray send The Freeman suggestions or advice.

JUDGE HOWARD FOR GOVERNOR

The Hon. Rollin B. Sanford, former district attorney of Albany county, has come out strongly in favor of the nomination of Judge Wesley O. Howard of Troy for governor. In a statement on the gubernatorial situation given out by Mr. Sanford and published in The Troy Times, Former District Attorney Sanford says:

"I am delighted with Senator Brackett's suggestion with reference to a candidate for governor. I hear on all sides much interest expressed in Judge Howard. He is of the right type. He would make a great fight for the party if nominated and for the people if elected.

"His work on the bench has been unique. He understands men and their desires. He has never feared to decide a case as justice seemed to require. He has read into the law whatever was necessary to make it a reasonable rule for the conduct of men.

"His chief business in life seems to have been to study people and to understand them. He knows the needs of the people of the state. He thinks clearly; speaks and writes with great simplicity, and acts in all things with prompt and clean decision.

"Although a long time a judge, he never had what the laymen recognize as the judicial temperament, for technicalities have faded away in his court, like butter in a furnace.

"In the present crisis, he comes perfectly equipped to lead the party in a great fight and govern the state well."

Hapeman's Market Fires Its First Meat Bargain Gun

This market is now under new management and ownership, Mr. Schantz, the former proprietor, having disposed of the business to the undersigned.

It shall be our steady aim to make it absolutely certain that the meats and other food articles bought here are worthy of every table. Everything we offer for sale must measure up to the standard of worth it ought to have, and so, on the foundation of reliability we shall build up public confidence. Our plain, unvarnished statement of actual facts will carry our message of economy into Kingston homes, boarding houses and hotels with more force than any combination of words we can devise.

We are determined that no market in Kingston shall undersell or overvalue us. Give us a trial order Saturday and let us show you how we "make good."

Messinger's Week-End Sale Without a Dull Moment

Despite the fact that homekeepers and others will soon require a stepladder to reach the soaring prices exacted by the meat trust, we steadily keep quotations down to the lowest possible notch. And the higher the prices go the more determined are we to supply for our trade the finest qualities of meats obtainable. Ripe experience teaches us to distinguish between the best and the inferior kinds, and our spirit of fair play impels us to see that patrons get their full money's worth. High wholesale prices do not discourage big crowds coming here Saturdays for their Sunday meats. There's not a dull moment during our week-end events. Come and see.

JUDGE HOWARD FOR GOVERNOR

The Hon. Rollin B. Sanford, former district attorney of Albany county, has come out strongly in favor of the nomination of Judge Wesley O. Howard of Troy for governor. In a statement on the gubernatorial situation given out by Mr. Sanford and published in The Troy Times, Former District Attorney Sanford says:

"I am delighted with Senator Brackett's suggestion with reference to a candidate for governor. I hear on all sides much interest expressed in Judge Howard. He is of the right type. He would make a great fight for the party if nominated and for the people if elected.

"His work on the bench has been unique. He understands men and their desires. He has never feared to decide a case as justice seemed to require. He has read into the law whatever was necessary to make it a reasonable rule for the conduct of men.

"His chief business in life seems to have been to study people and to understand them. He knows the needs of the people of the state. He thinks clearly; speaks and writes with great simplicity, and acts in all things with prompt and clean decision.

"Although a long time a judge, he never had what the laymen recognize as the judicial temperament, for technicalities have faded away in his court, like butter in a furnace.

"In the present crisis, he comes perfectly equipped to lead the party in a great fight and govern the state well."

BUILDING WAR ON EAST UNION STREET

The building war on East Union street between the Affron and the Mones families has furnished that neighborhood with considerable food for gossip lately and the latest phase was the stepping in of the board of fire commissioners who forbade Harris Mones to erect a frame addition on his building which is located next door to where Morris Affron is having a new house and store erected. For some time there has not existed the best of feelings between the two families.

A short time ago Morris Affron began the erection of a large two story building the first floor of which will be used for store purposes with living apartments above. Next door Harris Mones keeps a small grocery in a one story stone building. On the side facing the grocery store Mr. Affron had several windows cut in his new building on the second floor and Mr. Mones decided it was necessary to erect a frame addition on his stone store building which he proceeded to do when the attention of President Kolts of the fire commissioners was called to it and he forbade the erection of the new addition.

About two weeks ago there was also trouble on East Union street between relatives of the parties. Jacob Affron's house is located about a block away from Morris Affron's new building and his sleeping rooms are in the rear of the building. His next door neighbor is a relative of Harris Mones and they had an addition put on the building which was built so close to the Affron sleeping apartments that Affron could not open his shutters and he proceeded to take a hammer and smash them open.

Fear of the attention of the policeman on the beat being brought to the matter served to quell further hostilities.

Just what will be the outcome no one knows. In the meantime Mr. Mones is not having an addition placed over his grocery store and the new building of Morris Affron is rapidly nearing completion.

The National Guard As It Is.

The National Guard, while founded upon the Militia, should not be confused with it, as it is a very different force. The Militia was the orignal military organization of the Colonies. It proved of uncertain value during the Revolutionary War, so much so that Congress authorized the raising of a Continental Army, made up of levies from different states. This militia system continued during the period of the Confederacy. When the Constitution was adopted it therefore, recognized the two forms of military force—a National Army, and the Militia of the various states. The Constitution empowered Congress to provide for "calling forth the Militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections, and repel invasions." Also, "to provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the Militia, reserving to the states the appointment of the officers and the training of the Militia according to regulations prescribed by Congress."

Congress acted upon this authority and enacted the old Militia Law, May 8, 1872. This law remained in force, with few amendments, until 1903. Under this law Congress authorized the President to call forth the Militia, but limited the service to nine months and provided that the Militia could not be taken outside of the United States. All able-bodied men between the ages of 18 and 45, with the exception of those especially exempted, composed the Militia. Compulsory service was required in time of peace to the extent of complete enrollment, organization and an annual muster. Each enlisted man of the Militia was required to provide himself with the following arms: A good musket or firelock of a bore sufficient for balls of the eighteenth part of a pound; a sufficient bayonet and belt; two spare flints and a knapsack. A pouch with a box therein to contain not less than 24 cartridges, each cartridge to contain a proper quantity of powder and ball; or with a good rifle, knapsack and powder horn, 20 balls suited to the bore of his rifle, and a quarter of a pound of powder. Each officer to be armed with a sword and hanger or spontoon.

Following this law the states, either in their constitutions or their laws, recognized the Militia and provided for enrolling them, organizing military districts and appointing military commanders.

The militia system, however, was largely used in the War of 1812, but was so unreliable that it is stated on one occasion the Militia was placed in the first line and told to fire at least one volley before falling back. No attempt was made to use the Militia in the Mexican War, and very little use was made of it in the Civil War. The first call in the latter was made upon the Militia for temporary service, and it was occasionally used during the war by the states when invaded.

After the Civil War there arose in most of the states volunteer military organizations made up through volunteer enlistments. The states began to recognize these organizations and to make proper appropriations for their support. The National Government also began to make appropriations for their arms and equipments. Under this volunteer plan a fair degree of military efficiency was attained and name of "National Guard" was adopted by most, if not all the states.

This National Guard made up almost the entire first call of 125,000 men for the Spanish-American War. They did not, however, enter this service as militia, but as volunteers. A special law was passed by Congress authorizing the President to accept National Guard organizations by regiments, but each individual man had to enlist under this volunteer act and there was considerable delay in transferring the regiments from the state to the national service.

The experience of the Spanish-American War made it apparent to both the National Guard and the Regular Army that if the National Guard was to be an efficient military force for war service it must be organized, equipped and disciplined the same as the Regular Army. Also, that there should be some means of transferring the National Guard organizations to the United States service without delay incident to re-enlisting or volunteering.

After careful study a new Militia Bill was presented to Congress and was enacted into a law January 21, 1903. This, with subsequent amendments, placed the Organized Militia, or National Guard, where it was originally intended to be by the Constitution. This law recognizes the name Organized Militia or National Guard. Congress also made additional appropriations for arms, clothing and equipment. It is now as much a recognized part of the military resources of the National Government as is the Regular or Standing Army. It can be called directly into the service of the United States by organizations without new enlistments. The organizations as such can be called for indefinite service, each officer and man serving for the balance of the term of commission or enlistment. It is expected to be in such a state of readiness as to be prepared for immediate, active war service, and, as a matter of fact, it would form largely the first line.

The National Guard of the various states has become uniform in organization, equipment and discipline. This new function of the National Guard has brought about the necessity for a very different kind of training. In fact, it must be trained to perform all the duties required by the state in time of peace, in maintaining law and order and protecting life and property, and in addition thereto be trained in all those duties which would have to be performed in active war service. It is therefore a dual organization—state organization in time of peace and a national organization in time of war.

Few realize how much training is now required of the National Guard, but this may be classified under the following heads:

Sanitation and care of the wounded in the field.

The use and care of arms.

Discipline.

The science of war.

The National Guard now consists of 126,000 officers and men, and this number, by enlisting to the full war strength of companies, could be almost doubled. Its present full value to the Government, therefore, should be estimated at 200,000 officers and men.

It is believed that in the development of this special form of militia—that is, the volunteer organization, or National Guard, in conjunction with the Regular Army—the future problem of the military policy of this country is solved. It meets all the conditions required. In developing this force, no matter to what extent, men are not withdrawn from their regular vocations and therefrom from the productive capacity of the country. While filling their regular position in life, they voluntarily devote a part of their time in preparing themselves for military service. This form of military training does not encourage a prejudice in the minds of the people, but on the contrary makes military service popular.

The value of the National Guard does not rest alone upon the fact that it is an effective military force for war service. It is also a great educational institution No one who understands the training can fail to come to the conclusion that the discipline required, the development of intelligence, the precise and orderly performance of duties, the development of physical health and endurance, makes a better class of citizens. Well-informed Germans attribute the present commercial prosperity of Germany to the influence of the military training required of all able-bodied young men.

No other institution is doing more to develop the patriotism of the country. The influence of the National Guardsman reaches out into every walk of life and into every community. It is a leaven which raises the average patriotism of our citizens. It is a military school which is preparing thousands of young men for the defense of their country. These men will rally to the colors whenever the safety of our country and its institutions requires it.

Our United States National Guard is no more like the conscripted levies of Continental Europe than day is like night.

The Guardsman, whatever his motives for enlisting, soon learns to love the service he is trying to perform for his country, and, if he be of the right sort, strives earnestly to so perfect his knowledge of his duties that he will not become a burden in time of trouble, but an active part of the Nation's Army of Defense. Can you ask a nobler aim?

The National Guard is striving to educate the young American how to handle himself and the weapons used by soldiers so that a force may be created that will compel other nations to remain at peace with us and make the Stars and Stripes really respected wherever they may be flung to the breeze and not torn down and trampled under-foot and called a 'dirty rag'—as is sometimes the case now.

We want you to join with us in this patriotic work in our country's service.

Could Stand It Longer.

A lecturer one torrential night addressed an audience which might have been much larger without taxing the seating capacity of the hall. Naturally he was willing to curtail his address, and, having reached what he considered the psychological moment, said: "I'm afraid I've kept you too long." Whereupon a voice replied: "Go on, it's still raining."

Peculiar Classification.

In the census office at Washington acts against the law are recorded under a few heads, such as murder, burglary etc. A lady who was working ther recently ran across the crime, "Runn g a blind tiger." After a puzzled moment she placed it under the list, "Cruelty to Animals."

No Use.

"I'm going to engage in a battle of wits," he announced. "What's the use of going into battle without any ammunition?" she asked.

TO SAVINGS BANK DEPOSITORS

CHAPTER XI

SAVINGS BANKS VERSUS REAL ESTATE

STATISTICS show that 70% of salaried men save money.

A large proportion of these are depositors in Savings Banks.

Savings Banks pay depositors 3½% to 4% per annum.

Savings Banks lend money to Real Estate owners, who make on it 10% to 20% a year.

Why don't you invest some of your own money in Real Estate and make 10% to 20% a year yourself?

Statistics show that Real Estate along the northward growth of New York City increases 10% to 25% per annum.

$500 in the Savings Bank at 4% interest — in 10 years amounts to $ 741.06
$500 " " " " " " 20 years " " 1,093.30

		Invested at the sale		$1,030 in	1 yr. 8 mo.
Gouverneur Morris sale	June 7, 1910	$500	produced
Century Realty Co. sale	June 6, 1907	500	"	1,150 in	3 yrs.
Moses De Voe Estate sale	Nov. 11, 1903	500	"	6,000 in	6 yrs.
Cammann Estate sale	June 6, 1899	500	"	6,140 in	8 yrs.
Ryer Homestead sale	Oct. 5, 1891	500	"	4,375 in	13 yrs.
Morton Bliss sale	May 26, 1891	500	"	3,850 in	14 yrs.

The above sales are selected at random from many showing similar results.

Lots on Van Cortlandt Terrace are valued per lot today at $2,500 to $5,000. Van Cortlandt Terrace adjoins the Broadway City-Line Property to be sold at Auction June 23rd.

Supposing that at the Auction Sale of the Broadway City-Line you buy a lot for $1,000—$250 cash down—leaving the $750 balance on mortgage at 5%.

You should be able to sell this lot in a short time at a good profit, but supposing you don't sell it for 10 years and then sell it at the price the adjoining property is selling for today—say the minimum price of $2,500—the following will be the result:

$250 cash will buy a $1000 lot.		If you sell the lot in 10 yrs. for	$2500
$625 or $62.50 a year will pay interest and taxes for 10 years.		less the mortgage, . .	750
$875 Total Cash Invested		You will receive, ...	$1750
		less Cash Invested, . .	875
		Profit, ...	$875

On $250 originally invested at the sale, you will receive a profit of $875 in ten years—35% per annum on the original amount invested—or over 15% per annum on the original amount invested, plus carrying charges. Isn't this better than the Savings Bank? This is the worst that can happen to you. And you run no risk.

There will be no assessments for the opening of streets. If any assessments should come, for every $1.00 paid by you $2.00 is added to the value of your lot.

CAN'T YOU SEE THAT YOUR MONEY WILL BE BETTER INVESTED IN REAL ESTATE AT BROADWAY CITY-LINE—ALONG THE NORTHWARD GROWTH OF THE CITY—THAN IT WILL BE IN THE SAVINGS BANKS AT 4%?

GERMAN LINER DAMAGED IN COLLISION.

(Kaiser Wilhelm II.)

Southampton, Eng., June 19.—The North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm II with a notable of passengers for New York, limped into port here Wednesday afternoon, apparently badly lamaged below t water line as a result of a collision with the British steamship Incemore in the English Channel. The In more's bow was badly smashed, but it is not believed her shell was punctured below the water line like t of the Kaiser Wilhelm II. The collision occurred in a thick mist which made it impossible to see more tha ship's length ahead.

All able-bodied men between the ages of 18 and 45, with the exception of those especially exempted, composed the Militia. Compulsory service was required in time of peace to the extent of complete enrollment, organization and an annual muster. Each enlisted man of the Militia was required to provide himself with the following arms: A good musket or firelock of a bore sufficient for balls of the eighteenth part of a pound; a sufficient bayonet and belt; two spare flints and a knapsack. A pouch with a box therein to contain not less than 24 cartridges, each cartridge to contain a proper quantity of powder and ball; or with a good rifle, knapsack and powder horn, 20 balls suited to the bore of his rifle, and a quarter of a pound of powder. Each officer to be armed with a sword and hanger or spontoon.

Following this law the states, either in their constitutions or their laws, recognized the Militia and provided for enrolling them, organizing military districts and appointing military commanders.

The militia system, however, was largely used in the War of 1812, but was so unreliable that it is stated on one occasion the Militia was placed in the first line and told to fire at least one volley before falling back. No attempt was made to use the Militia in the Mexican War, and very little use was made of it in the Civil War. The first call in the latter was made upon the Militia for temporary service, and it was occasionally used during the war by the states when invaded.

After the Civil War there arose in most of the states volunteer military organizations made up through volunteer enlistments. The states began to recognize these organizations and to make proper appropriations for their support. The National Government also began to make appropriations for their arms and equipments. Under this volunteer plan a fair degree of military efficiency was attained and name of "National Guard" was adopted by most, if not all the states.

This National Guard made up almost the entire first call of 125,000 men for the Spanish-American War. They did not, however, enter this service as militia, but as volunteers. A special law was passed by Congress authorizing the President to accept National Guard organizations by regiments, but each individual man had to enlist under this volunteer act and there was considerable delay in transferring the regiments from the state to the national service.

The experience of the Spanish-American War made it apparent to both the National Guard and the Regular Army that if the National Guard was to be an efficient military force for war service it must be organized, equipped and disciplined the same as the Regular Army. Also, that there should be some means of transferring the National Guard organizations to the United States service without delay incident to re-enlisting or volunteering.

After careful study a new Militia Bill was presented to Congress and was enacted into a law January 21, 1903. This, with subsequent amendments, placed the Organized Militia, or National Guard, where it was originally intended to be by the Constitution. This law recognizes the name Organized Militia or National Guard. Congress also made aditional appropriations for arms, clothing and equipment. It is now as much a recognized part of the military resources of the National Government as is the Regular or Standing Army. It can be called directly into the service of the United States by organizations without new enlistments. The organizations as such can be called for indefinite service, each officer and man serving for the balance of the term of commission or enlistment. It is expected to be in such a state of readiness as to be prepared for immediate, active war service, and, as a matter of fact, it would form largely the first line.

The National Guard of the various states has become uniform in organization, equipment and discipline. This new function of the National Guard has brought about the necessity for a very different kind of training. In fact, it must be trained to perform all the duties required by the state in time of peace, in maintaining law and order and protecting life and property, and in addition thereto be trained in all those duties which would have to be performed in active war service. It is therefore a dual organization—state organization in time of peace and a national organization in time of war.

Few realize how much training is now required of the National Guard, but this may be classified under the following heads:

Sanitation and care of the wounded in the field.

The use and care of arms.

Discipline.

The science of war.

The National Guard now consists of 126,000 officers and men, and this number, by enlisting to the full war strength of companies, could be almost doubled. Its present full value to the Government, therefore, should be estimated at 200,000 officers and men.

It is believed that in the development of this special form of militia—that is, the volunteer organization, or National Guard, in conjunction with the Regular Army—the future problem of the military policy of this country is solved. It meets all the conditions required. In developing this force, no matter to what extent, men are not withdrawn from their regular vocations and therefrom from the productive capacity of the country. While filling their regular position in life, they voluntarily devote a part of their time in preparing themselves for military service. This form of military training does not encourage a prejudice in the minds of the people, but on the contrary makes military service popular.

The value of the National Guard does not rest alone upon the fact that it is an effective military force for war service. It is also a great educational institution No one who understands the training can fail to come to the conclusion that the discipline required, the development of intelligence, the precise and orderly performance of duties, the development of physical health and endurance, makes a better class of citizens. Well-informed Germans attribute the present commercial prosperity of Germany to the influence of the military training required of all able-bodied young men.

No other institution is doing more to develop the patriotism of the country. The influence of the National Guardsman reaches out into every walk of life and into every community. It is a leaven which raises the average patriotism of our citizens. It is a military school which is preparing thousands of young men for the defense of their country. These men will rally to the colors whenever the safety of our country and its institutions requires it.

Our United States National Guard is no more like the conscripted levies of Continental Europe than day is like night.

The Guardsman, whatever his motives for enlisting, soon learns to love the service he is trying to perform for his country, and, if he be of the right sort, strives earnestly to so perfect his knowledge of his duties that he will not become a burden in time of trouble, but an active part of the Nation's Army of Defense. Can you ask a nobler aim?

The National Guard is striving to educate the young American how to handle himself and the weapons used by soldiers so that a force may be created that will compel other nations to remain at peace with us and make the Stars and Stripes really respected wherever they may be flung to the breeze and not torn down and trampled under-foot and called a "dirty rag"—as is sometimes the case now.

We want you to join with us in this patriotic work in our country's service.

Could Stand It Longer.

A lecturer one torrential night addressed an audience which might have been much larger without taxing the seating capacity of the hall. Naturally he was willing to curtail his address, and, having reached what he considered the psychological moment, said: "I'm afraid I've kept you too long." Whereupon a voice replied: "Go on, it's still raining."

Peculiar Classification.

In the census office at Washington acts against the law are recorded under a few heads, such as murder, burglary etc. A lady who was working there recently ran across the crime, "Running a blind tiger." After a puzzled moment she placed it under the list, "Cruelty to Animals."

No Use.

"I'm going to engage in a battle of wits," he announced. "What's the use of going into battle without any ammunition?" she asked.

CHAPTER XI

SAVINGS BANKS VERSUS REAL ESTATE

STATISTICS show that 70% of salaried men save money.

A large proportion of these are depositors in Savings Banks.

Savings Banks pay depositors 3½% to 4% per annum.

Savings Banks lend money to Real Estate owners, who make on it 10% to 20% a year.

Why don't you invest some of your own money in Real Estate and make 10% to 20% a year yourself?

Statistics show that Real Estate along the northward growth of New York City increases 10% to 25% per annum.

$500 in the Savings Bank at 4% interest—in 10 years amounts to $ 741.06
$500 " " " " " " 20 years " " 1,093.30

		Invested at the sale
Gouverneur Morris sale	June 7, 1910	$500	produced	$1,030 in	1 yr. 8 mo.
Century Realty Co. sale	June 6, 1907	500	"	1,150 in	3 yrs.
Mesac De Vos Estate sale	Nov. 11, 1903	500	"	6,000 in	6 yrs.
Cammann Estate sale	June 6, 1899	500	"	6,140 in	8 yrs.
Ryer Homestead sale	Oct. 5, 1891	500	"	4,375 in	13 yrs.
Morton Ellis sale	May 28, 1891	500	"	3,850 in	14 yrs.

The above sales are selected at random from many showing similar results.

Lots on Van Cortlandt Terrace are valued per lot today at $2,500 to $5,000. Van Cortlandt Terrace adjoins the Broadway City-Line Property to be sold at Auction June 23rd.

Supposing that at the Auction Sale of the Broadway City-Line you buy a lot for $1,000—$250 cash down—leaving the $750 balance on mortgage at 5%.

You should be able to sell this lot in a short time at a good profit, but supposing you don't sell it for 10 years and then sell it at the price the adjoining property is selling for today—say the minimum price of $2,500—the following will be the result:

$250 cash will buy a $1000 lot.	If you sell the lot in 10 yrs. for	$2500
$625 or $62.50 a year will pay interest and taxes for 10 years.	less the mortgage, . .	750
$875 Total Cash Invested	You will receive, ...	$1750
	less Cash Invested, . .	875
	Profit, ...	$875

On $250 originally invested at the sale, you will receive a profit of $875 in ten years—35% per annum on the original amount invested—or over 15% per annum on the original amount invested, plus carrying charges. Isn't this better than the Savings Bank? This is the worst that can happen to you. And you run no risk.

There will be no assessments for the opening of streets. If any assessments should come, for every $1.00 paid by you $2.00 is added to the value of your lot.

CAN'T YOU SEE THAT YOUR MONEY WILL BE BETTER INVESTED IN REAL ESTATE AT BROADWAY CITY-LINE—ALONG THE NORTHWARD GROWTH OF THE CITY—THAN IT WILL BE IN THE SAVINGS BANKS AT 4%?

GERMAN LINER DAMAGED IN COLLISION.

(Kaiser Wilhelm II.)

Southampton, Eng., June 19.—The North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm II with a notable list of passengers for New York, limped into port here Wednesday afternoon, apparently badly damaged below the water line as a result of a collision with the British steamship Incemore in the English Channel. The Incemore's bow was badly smashed, but it is not believed her shell was punctured below the water line like that of the Kaiser Wilhelm II. The collision occurred in a thick mist which made it impossible to see more than a ship's length ahead.

MINE DISASTER IN NORTHWEST

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Calgary, Alberta, June 19.—Two hundred men are believed to have perished as a result of an explosion in the Hillcrest collieries mine at Hillcrest near Frank, on the Crow's Nest line this morning. Between five and six hundred men went into the mine this morning and at nine o'clock the explosion occurred.

Over 400 men escaped but 200 were left and it is feared that there is no hope for them.

The Canadian Pacific Railway officials here have been advised that following the explosion at the Hillcrest mine fire broke out and that great volumes of dense black smoke are now pouring from the shaft of the mine.

The advices to the company from the mine state that there are still 500 men beneath the surface, this latter advice conflicting with a telegram received a few minutes earlier from another source.

A special train carrying all available nurses, doctors and supplies was rushed to the scene. A mine rescue car was started to the scene from Blairmore.

SULZER TO SPEAK AT COUNTY FAIR

Ellenville, June 19.—Secretary Thompson, of the Agricultural Society, announces that arrangements have been perfected which it is expected will bring to the fair the best three attractions which have been here. On Thursday, August 13, former Governor Sulzer will be here and speak on the fair grounds. As is well known he is a forceful speaker and well worth hearing and seeing. Each day of the fair there will be four free acts by two attractions as follows: Patrick and Francisco, the New York Hippodrome Haywagon Rubes; Prof. J. Apdale's zoo. This attraction carries with it four bears, eight dogs, four monkeys, one ant eater and three people. This act is played in some of the largest fairs with great success. This show carries with it three tent shows for the midway and ten midway concessions. Everything is pointing to a larger and better fair than ever before.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 19.—Utah Copper was one of the most porminent features at the opening of the stock market today, advancing ¾. The buying movement in this stock sent it to 58¼, the highest price it has touched for some months. The market tone was strong and many stocks made material gains. There was good demand for Missouri Pacific followed its London lead advancing ½. Among the other issues which made substantial advances were Amalgamated Copper, American Can, Lehigh Valley, Southern Pacific, United States Common and Union Pacific. New York, New Haven & Hartford began ½ lower and St. Paul also scored a loss. Western Union which sold minus the dividend was ¼ higher. The better tone was attributed to apparent important improvement in the Mexican situation and private crop advices. The curb was steady. Americans in London were listless.

Noon.—A good demand prevailed inthe late forenoon, with prices at higher levels. Union Pacific was the most prominent of the railroads, advancing to 155⅝, and Steel common was in fair demand, moving up ⅜ to 62. Canadian Pacific was weak, declining ⅜ to 194⅞. Amalgamated Copper and Reading held firm. Call money loaning at 1¾.

2:30 p. m.—A number of important issues were fractionally lower in the last hour. Utah Copper held steady despite some profit taking sales selling around 58⅛. Amalgamated Copper broke through 71 and Missouri Pacific went back to its opening price. The tone, however, was steady.

The stock market closed steady; governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mrs. DeForest Smith and Mrs. William Lawton will be the hostesses at the Twaalfskill Club on Saturday afternoon.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Julia Ann Peterson, daughter of Mrs. Melissa Peterson, to Edwin H. Kittle. The marriage will take place in the near future.

Mrs. Tetley's Sunday school class of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church were delightfully entertained at Legg's Mills, at Camp Buster, by Mr. and Mrs. D. Howard on Wednesday afternoon. There was a large gathering of the class, the Rev. and Mrs. Cranston being the guests of honor. Games and sports were enjoyed and the outing was considered by all one to be long and happily remembered.

Bogardus-Brainard.

Miss Margaret Brainard and Kenneth Bogardus, both of Saugerties, were married at the home of the bride on West Bridge street of that village, on Wednesday by the Rev. J. V. Wemple of the Reformed Church. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Brainard.

Hess-Gildersleeve.

Raymond J. Hess of Ardsley street and Miss Eva B. Gildersleeve of John street were quietly married in Albany on Thursday by the Rev. William Herman Hopkins. The attendants were R. B. Gildersleeve and Mrs. Elizabeth Gildersleeve. Mr. and Mrs. Hess have a wide circle of friends in this city who wish them a happy married life.

Tango at Wayside Inn.

There was nothing more popular in Ellenville, nor in any other place in Ulster county, Wednesday afternoon that the tango tea given by Miss May Van Deusen of Ellenville to about fifty other friends. The affair was held at the Wayside Inn and was an exclusive affair, there being no "mere" man included in the party. Terpsichorean revelries that would have satisfied the most indefatigable patron of the modern dances were indulged in. Mine Host C. Clifford Ruff arranged a varied program consisting mostly of the maxixe, tango, one-step and the hesitation for which efficient music was furnished by Mance's orchestra. The Wayside Inn has been the first hotel in this section to introduce the modern dances and they have grown more in favor each day. Ellenville people have been quick to learn the new fancy dances as was illustrated by the graceful manner in which the ladies in Miss Van Deusen's party yesterday afternoon swayed, dipped and hesitated. And there is promise of this town having a large number of dancers within a short time as Manager Ruff of the Inn has secured the services of Miss Evelyn Wayne who will begin at once to form dancing classes. Those wishing to join the classes may leave their names with Mr. Ruff. Miss Wayne is also an accomplished singer and rendered several selections during the afternoon which were well received by her audience. Following the dancing the party proceeded to the airy dining-room bedecked with flowers where light refreshments were served.

Ohlrogge-Smiley.

Miss Marion Smiley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Smiley, was married to Louis Henry Ohlrogge of Brooklyn Thursday afternoon in the spacious parlor of the Hotel Wildmere, Lake Minnewaska. The room was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and before the altar of mountain laurel the couple were married by the Rev. W. W. Wilcox, of Walden, N. Y., in the presence of about four hundred guests. The bride's gown was of white bridal satin, trimmed with Chantilly lace, caught up with orange blossoms. Her tulle veil was also trimmed with Chantilly lace and fell from beneath the cap. The bride wore the gift of the bridegroom, a diamond lavalliere. Mrs. H. A. Robinson, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor, and wore a gown of pampadour silk, and carried rose peonies. The Misses Margaret, Helen and Elizabeth Smiley, sisters of the bride; Gertrude Macomber of Newport, R. I.; Virginia Taylor of Ellenville and Finis Macomber of Portsmouth, R. I., were the bridesmaids, and wore gowns of flowered net, carrying bouquets of laurel. The flower girls were Misses Shirley Robinson of Syracuse and Betty Corrigan of Toronto, wearing dresses of white accordion pleated net and carrying inverted parasols filled with mountain laurel. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, William Ohlrogge of Brooklyn. A reception was given Mr. and Mrs. Ohlrogge after the wedding, during which William Ohlrogge sang "O Promise Me," and Miss Margaret Smiley "Love's Coronation," with piano and 'cello accompaniment. Appearance Is Not All.

A gentle spirit may express itself in rude words of illiteracy; it is not therefore rude. Ruffianism may speak the language of learning or religion; it is ruffianism still. ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, June 19.—The twenty-eighth annual meeting of the Ellenville Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held at the home of the president, Mrs. George F. Kelp, on Center street Wednesday afternoon. There was a large number of members and a few friends present. The meeting was called to order by the president and opened with singing the "White Ribbon Rally Song" with Mrs. John R. DeVany at the piano. The devotional service was in charge of Mrs. Edgar Mackey followed by the secretary and treasurers reports of the work of the past year and both were well received. The president was then called upon for an address and she with well chosen words responded but what she announced was not well received by those in attendance. Mrs. Kelp, who has served the local union seven years as its president and her efficient work and faithfulness has meant more for the union than words can express and when she announced after due deliberation and final decision that she tendered her resignation it was with marked sadness by the members that her decision was accepted. Mrs. Edgar Mackey, as she is livingly counted the "mother of union," having been a member of it since its very infancy and serving most acceptably the past seven years as vice president and in serving as president in the years gone by and filling other positions in the union all so faithfully and well tendered her resignation which was only accepted after her final decision. Mrs. Kelp in well chosen words presented to her coworkers of the past seven years. Mrs. Edgar Mackey, Mrs. Jere Krom and Mrs. George F. Andrews each with a beautiful table piece of her own work and a dainty china cream pitcher and sugar bowl attesting her appreciation of the harmony of their work for the union together. The gifts were received with hearty thanks to the giver. This was followed by singing the "Temperance Rally Song." The time had now arrived for the election of officers and after baloting for president and several names presented the final vote was taken by acclimation and the following were declared elected for the ensuing year. President, Mrs. Edward A. Smiley; vice-president, Mrs. Addison Stratton; secretary, Mrs. George F. Andrews; recording secretary, Mrs. Theodore Foster; second vice, Mrs. H. J. Shurter; third-vice, Mrs. C. H. Van Kirk; treasurer, Mrs. Jere Krom; pianist, Mrs. John R. De Vany. Mrs. Kelp presented each member with a card upon which was a beautiful floral decoration and a Bible quotation, and following election of officers to roll call each member gave the quotation, from card, and with singing the "Right Shall Prevail" the meeting adjourned to meet again in September. Mrs. Kelp, as hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Florence Kelp and Miss Lurena Brow, served delicious refreshments, and a pleasant social hour followed.

Westminster Abbey's Prizefighter.

Observant visitors to Westminster abbey may have noticed in one of the groups of statuary near the north door of the edifice a remarkable arm on one of the figures. Not a few people have thought that it was an exaggerated model of a limb, but as a matter of fact it was actually modeled from the arm of a verger at the abbey, named John Burton, who at one time was champion prizefighter of England. Burton was the dean's verger, and on one occasion he was asked if he would like to be buried in the abbey. Burton replied in the affirmative and also asked that the fact that he was champion prizefighter of England should be inscribed on his tomb. To this the dean actually consented, but when the time came it was decided by the chapter that the inscription should be omitted. Burton, however, was buried in the abbey, although there is nothing on the tombstone to indicate who or what he was.—London Opinion.

Inhaling Spaghetti.

There is a popular belief to the effect that the Neapolitan eats his spaghetti by a deft process of wrapping thirty or forty inches round the tines of his fork and then lifting it inboard, an ell at a time. This is not correct. The true Neapolitan does not eat his spaghetti at all; he inhales it. He gathers up a loose strand and starts it down his throat. He then respires from the diaphragm, and, like a troupe of trained angleworms, that entire mass of spaghetti uncoils itself, gets up off the plate and disappears inside him—en masse, as it were—and makes him look like a man who is chinning himself over a set of bead portieres. I fear that we in America will never learn to siphon our spaghetti into us thus. It takes a nation that has practiced deep breathing for centuries.—Irvin S. Cobb in Saturday Evening Post.

Unfair Handicap.

Willie had resigned his position in the big bakery, where he labored in the pie department, and had gone to work in a carpenter's shop for smaller wages. The social investigator having heard about Willie questioned him.

"Aren't you sorry you left the bakery and came to this shop?" she asked kindly.

"No'm," Willie answered quickly.

"But you get less money."

"Yes'm."

"Well, what was the matter with the bakery?"

"'Twuz this way," explained Willie. "It hurt my mouth. I wuz in de pie part, de cherry pie part, an' I had to stone cherries. An' dey got a rule over there dat all de boys has to whistle all de time dey's workin', so as to show dey ain't eatin' no cherries."—Popular Magazine.

Fiji Islanders' Sugar Cane Dance.

A very curious and exceedingly clever dance may be witnessed in Fiji called by the natives "the sugar cane meke," or sugar cane dance. It represents the growth of the sugar cane. In the first figure the dancers squat low on the ground, shake their heads, shut their eyes and murmur slowly and softly an unintelligible sentence. Gradually they all stand up together, growing taller and taller, and as they "grow" they wave their arms and tremble all over from ankle to head, like the tall, tasseled cane waving in the wind, and still they keep on chanting louder and louder. The last figure represents a series of combats meant to symbolize the exactions of the chiefs, who compel the "kaisi," willing and unwilling, to come and cut their crops.—London Standard.

Etruscan Vases.

The famous Etruscan vases were wrongly named, for, though made in Etruria, they were the productions of Greek genius. They are elegant in form and enriched with bands of beautiful foliage and other ornaments, figures and similar objects of a highly artistic character. One class has black figures and ornaments on a red ground —the natural color of the clay; another has the figures of the natural color and the ground painted black. The former class belong to a date about 600 B. C., the latter date about a century later and extend over a period of some 300 or 350 years.

Words and Thought.

"The gift of words" is sometimes spoken of disparagingly by "practical" men. But words are merely the symbols of ideas, and nobody really has the gift of words who has not also the gift of thought. Before one can talk with power he first must be able to think. There never was a great speaker who was not also a real thinker.

Social Contract.

An up-to-date bride, when asked at her wedding if she would "love, honor and obey," murmured, "I will if he does financially what he has promised."

MINE DISASTER IN NORTHWEST

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Calgary, Alberta, June 19.—Two hundred men are believed to have perished as a result of an explosion in the Hillcrest collieries mine at Hillcrest near Frank, on the Crow's Nest line this morning. Between five and six hundred men went into the mine this morning and at nine o'clock the explosion occurred.

Over 400 men escaped but 200 were left and it is feared that there is no hope for them.

The Canadian Pacific Railway officials here have been advised that following the explosion at the Hillcrest mine fire broke out and that great volumes of dense black smoke are now pouring from the shaft of the mine.

The advices to the company from the mine state that there are still 500 men beneath the surface, this latter advice conflicting with a telegram received a few minutes earlier from another source.

A special train carrying all available nurses, doctors and supplies was rushed to the scene. A mine rescue car was started to the scene from Blairmore.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 19.—Utah Copper was one of the most porminent features at the opening of the stock market today, advancing ¾. The buying movement in this stock sent it to 58¼, the highest price it has touched for some months. The market tone was strong and many stocks made material gains. There was good demand for Missouri Pacific followed its London lead advancing ½. Among the other issues which made substantial advances were Amalgamated Copper, American Can, Lehigh Valley, Southern Pacific, United States Common and Union Pacific. New York, New Haven & Hartford began ½ lower and St. Paul also scored a loss. Western Union which sold minus the dividend was ¼ higher. The better tone was attributed to apparent important improvement in the Mexican situation and private crop advices. The curb was steady. Americans in London were listless.

Noon.—A good demand prevailed inthe late forenoon, with prices at higher levels. Union Pacific was the most prominent of the railroads, advancing to 155⅝, and Steel common was in fair demand, moving up ⅜ to 62. Canadian Pacific was weak, declining ⅜ to 194⅞. Amalgamated Copper and Reading held firm. Call money loaning at 1¾.

2:30 p. m.—A number of important issues were fractionally lower in the last hour. Utah Copper held steady despite some profit taking sales selling around 58¼. Amalgamated Copper broke through 71 and Missouri Pacific went back to its opening price. The tone, however, was steady.

The stock market closed steady; governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

Tango at Wayside Inn.

There was nothing more popular in Ellenville, nor in any other place in Ulster county, Wednesday afternoon that the tango tea given by Miss May Van Deusen of Ellenville to about fifty other friends. The affair was held at the Wayside Inn and was an exclusive affair, there being no "mere" man included in the party. Terpsichorean revelries that would have satisfied the most indefatigable patron of the modern dances were indulged in. Mine Host C. Clifford Ruff arranged a varied program consisting mostly of the maxixe, tango, one-step and the hesitation for which efficient music was furnished by Mance's orchestra. The Wayside Inn has been the first hotel in this section to introduce the modern dances and they have grown more in favor each day. Ellenville people have been quick to learn the new fancy dances as was illustrated by the graceful manner in which the ladies in Miss Van Deusen's party yesterday afternoon swayed, dipped and hesitated. And there is promise of this town having a large number of dancers within a short time as Manager Ruff of the Inn has secured the services of Miss Evelyn Wayne who will begin at once to form dancing classes. Those wishing to join the classes may leave their names with Mr. Ruff. Miss Wayne is also an accomplished singer and rendered several selections during the afternoon which were well received by her audience. Following the dancing the party proceeded to the airy dining-room bedecked with flowers where light refreshments were served.

Ohlrogge-Smiley.

Miss Marion Smiley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Smiley, was married to Louis Henry Ohlrogge of Brooklyn Thursday afternoon in the spacious parlor of the Hotel Wildmere, Lake Minnewaska. The room was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and before the altar of mountain laurel the couple were married by the Rev. W. W. Wilcox, of Walden, N. Y., in the presence of about four hundred guests. The bride's gown was of white bridal satin, trimmed with Chantilly lace, caught up with orange blossoms. Her tulle veil was also trimmed with Chantilly lace and fell from beneath the cap. The bride wore the gift of the bridegroom, a diamond lavalliere. Mrs. H. A. Robinson, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor, and wore a gown of pampadour silk, and carried rose peonies. The Misses Margaret, Helen and Elizabeth Smiley, sisters of the bride; Gertrude Maccomber of Newport, R. I.; Virginia Taylor of Ellenville and Finis Macomber of Portsmouth, R. I., were the bridesmaids, and wore gowns of flowered net, carrying bouquets of laurel. The flower girls were Misses Shirley Robinson of Syracuse and Betty Corrigan of Toronto, wearing dresses of white accordion pleated net and carrying inverted parasols filled with mountain laurel. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, William Ohlrogge of Brooklyn. A reception was given Mr. and Mrs. Ohlrogge after the wedding, during which William Ohlrogge sang "O Promise Me," and Miss Margaret Smiley "Love's Coronation," with piano and 'cello accompaniment. After the honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Ohlrogge will reside at 1525 Dorchester road, Brooklyn.

Appearance Is Not All.

A gentle spirit may express itself in rude words of illiteracy; it is not therefore rude. Ruffianism may speak the language of learning or religion; it is ruffianism still. Strength may wear the garb of weakness, and still be strong; and a weakling may carry the weapons of strength, but fight with a faint heart.—Harold Bell Wright.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, June 19.—The twenty-eighth annual meeting of the Ellenville Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held at the home of the president, Mrs. George F. Kelp, on Center street Wednesday afternoon. There was a large number of members and a few friends present. The meeting was called to order by the president and opened with singing the "White Ribbon Rally Song" with Mrs. John R. DeVany at the piano. The devotional service was in charge of Mrs. Edgar Mackey followed by the secretary and treasurers reports of the work of the past year and both were well received. The president was then called upon for an address and she with well chosen words responded but what she announced was not well received by those in attendance. Mrs. Kelp, who has served the local union seven years as its president and her efficient work and faithfulness has meant more for the union than words can express and when she announced after due deliberation and final decision that she tendered her resignation it was with marked sadness by the members that her decision was accepted. Mrs. Edgar Mackey, as she is livingly counted the "mother of union," having been a member of it since ias very infancy and serving most acceptably the past seven years as vice president and in serving as president in the years gone by and filling other positions in the union all so faithfully and well tendered her resignation which was only accepted after her final decision. Mrs. Kelp in well chosen words presented to her coworkers of the past seven years, Mrs. Edgar Mackey, Mrs. Jere Krom and Mrs. George F. Andrews each with a beautiful table piece of her own work and a dainty china cream pitcher and sugar bowl attesting her appreciation of the harmony of their work for the union together. The gifts were received with hearty thanks to the giver. This was followed by singing the "Temperance Rally Song." The time had now arrived for the election of officers and after baloting for president and several names presented the final vote was taken by acclimation and the following were declared elected for the ensuing year. President, Mrs. Edward A. Smiley; vice-president, Mrs. Addison Stratton; secretary, Mrs. George F. Andrews; recording secretary, Mrs. Theodore Foster; second vice, Mrs. H. J. Shurter; third-vice, Mrs. C. H. Van Kirk; treasurer, Mrs. Jere Krom; pianist, Mrs. John R. De Vany. Mrs. Kelp presented each member with a card upon which was a beautiful floral decoration and a Bible quotation, and following election of officers to roll call each member gave the quotation, from card, and with singing the "Right Shall Prevail" the meeting adjourned to meet again in September. Mrs. Kelp, as hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Florence Kelp and Miss Lurena Brow, served delicious refreshments, and a pleasant social hour followed.

Westminster Abbey's Prizefighter.

Observant visitors to Westminster abbey may have noticed in one of the groups of statuary near the north door of the edifice a remarkable arm on one of the figures. Not a few people have thought that it was an exaggerated model of a limb, but as a matter of fact it was actually modeled from the arm of a verger at the abbey, named John Burton, who at one time was champion prizefighter of England. Burton was the dean's verger, and on one occasion he was asked if he would like to be buried in the abbey. Burton replied in the affirmative and also asked that the fact that he was champion prizefighter of England should be inscribed on his tomb. To this the dean actually consented, but when the time came it was decided by the chapter that the inscription should be omitted. Burton, however, was buried in the abbey, although there is nothing on the tombstone to indicate who or what he was.—London Opinion.

Inhaling Spaghetti.

There is a popular belief to the effect that the Neapolitan eats his spaghetti by a deft process of wrapping thirty or forty inches round the tines of his fork and then lifting it inboard, an ell at a time. This is not correct. The true Neapolitan does not eat his spaghetti at all; he inhales it. He gathers up a loose strand and starts it down his throat. He then respires from the diaphragm, and, like a troupe of trained angleworms, that entire mass of spaghetti uncoils itself, gets up off the plate and disappears inside him—en masse, as it were—and makes him look like a man who is chinning himself over a set of bead portieres. I fear that we in America will never learn to siphon our spaghetti into us thus. It takes a nation that has practiced deep breathing for centuries.—Irvin S. Cobb in Saturday Evening Post.

Unfair Handicap.

Willie had resigned his position in the big bakery, where he labored in the pie department, and had gone to work in a carpenter's shop for smaller wages. The social investigator having heard about Willie questioned him.

"Aren't you sorry you left the bakery and came to this shop?" she asked kindly.

"No'm," Willie answered quickly.

"But you get less money."

"Yes'm."

"Well, what was the matter with the bakery?"

"'Twuz this way," explained Willie. "It hurt my mouth. I wuz in de pie part, de cherry pie part, an' I had to stone cherries. An' dey got a rule over there dat all de boys has to whistle all de time dey's workin', so as to show dey ain't eatin' no cherries."—Popular Magazine.

Fiji Islanders' Sugar Cane Dance.

A very curious and exceedingly clever dance may be witnessed in Fiji called by the natives "the sugar cane meke," or sugar cane dance. It represents the growth of the sugar cane. In the first figure the dancers squat low on the ground, shake their heads, shut their eyes and murmur slowly and softly an unintelligible sentence. Gradually they all stand up together, growing taller and taller, and as they "grow" they wave their arms and tremble all over from ankle to head, like the tall, tasseled cane waving in the wind, and still they keep on chanting louder and louder. The last figure represents a series of combats meant to symbolize the exactions of the chiefs, who compel the "kaisi," willing and unwilling, to come and cut their crops.—London Standard.

Etruscan Vases.

The famous Etruscan vases were wrongly named, for, though made in Etruria, they were the productions of Greek genius. They are elegant in form and enriched with bands of beautiful foliage and other ornaments, figures and similar objects of a highly artistic character. One class has black figures and ornaments on a red ground—the natural color of the clay; another has the figures of the natural color and the ground painted black. The former class belong to a date about 600 B. C., the latter date about a century later and extend over a period of some 300 or 350 years.

Words and Thought.

"The gift of words" is sometimes spoken of disparagingly by "practical" men. But words are merely the symbols of ideas, and nobody really has the gift of words who has not also the gift of thought. Before one can talk with power he first must be able to think. There never was a great speaker who was not also a real thinker.

Social Contract.

An up-to-date bride, when asked at her wedding if she would "love, honor and obey," murmured, "I will if he does financially what he has promised."

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, June 19.—The Federals have secretly signed up a half dozen of Organized Baseball's stars, and these men will cavort on Federal diamonds next year, according to a source very close to the Federal League.

The reason the Feds have not announced the fact that they have signed up these men is because they fear that Organized Baseball will attempt some legal proceedings to bar these players from going over to the Federals. The authority for this statement also states that all of the players who have signed up to play with the Feds next year have been given from $3,000 to $5,000 advance money and they are now drawing the interest on this money.

* * * *

'Tis said that Jake Daubert, of the Dodgers, who was voted the most valuable player in the National League last year, is weeping and gnashing his teeth because he signed up a five year Dodger contract just a short time ago that calls for a paltry $5,600 a year. The Feds, it is said, have told Jacob that if he can tear himself loose from the ties that bind him to Charles Hercules Ebbets they will guarantee him a five year job and a salary of $9,000 a year. But Jacob seems so well hooked by the genial Mr. Ebbets that even the courts of law won't unhook him, and so he must suffer the loss of $3,400 per annum with as much fortitude as possible.

England, Sweden and Germany have put into operation a plan that is designed to bring to the fore some of the great natural athletes of those countries in time for the trainers to get hold of them and polish them up for use in the Olympic games in 1916.

Because of the general apathy on the part of most of the young men in those nations concerning athletics in general, the different athletic authorities offered a diploma and a gold medal to all the youths who could pass tests in five of nine branches of athletics. The medals are handsome ornaments, bearing the government's seal on one side with the name of the owner of the medal underneath and on the other side a lot of words telling the world in general that the holder thereof is some considerable athlete.

The athlete does not have to compete in all the nine branches to secure a diploma and a medal. He can make his choice of five of nine branches, and if he has a good mark in those five he becomes an athletic graduate.

These nine branches are: Running, swimming, cycling, fencing, field events, wrestling, shooting, gymnastics and boxing.

The athletes compete under the supervision of the trainers who are on the lookout for some real marvels among the hordes of young men who have come forward to compete for the medals. It is said that already in England and Germany at least 100 real athletes, heretofore unheard of, have come to the fore through their competition for the medals, and that the trainers feel that out of this number they will be able to develop at least 20 per cent into real Olympic wonders.

The next hearing will take place on the 7th and 8th of July. Rockwood and Haldane of New York city and Senator Brackett of Saratoga Springs are counsel for Lecky; Judge Clearwater represents the Winstons.

Barringer Sent to Jail.

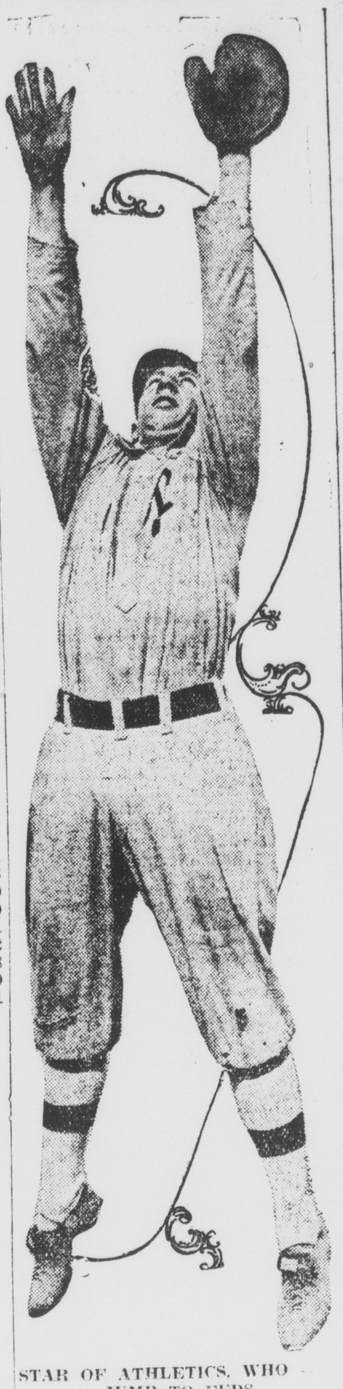

Fred Barringer of Higginsville, who was arrested on Thursday afternoon by Policeman Shader on a warrant sworn out by his wife, was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail by Recorder Grogan. Barringer and his family live in a cellar of a house on Washington avenue in the Higginsville section which has been converted into two living rooms. For some time past he has not worked and his wife has been obliged to work hard to support her six children and her husband. After he had gotten a full cargo of joy water aboard he went home and started to raise a rough house.

Eddie Collins, the pivot of the inner works of the world's champions, has agreed to sign with the Brooklyn Federals as soon as his contract with Connie Mack's team expires at the end of the season. His contract, so Murphy says, calls for a salary of $25,000 per year for three seasons.

On the Firing Line

in every walk of life you'll find good old "Bull" Durham. Men of action, men with red blood in their veins, who do the world's work, and do it well, learn to appreciate things at their real worth. They are not fooled by frills—they demand honest value.

These are the millions of men all over the earth who find complete, healthful enjoyment and lasting satisfaction in "Bull" Durham hand-made cigarettes! These fresh, fragrant cigarettes they roll for themselves, with their own hands, to their own liking, from ripe, mellow "Bull" Durham tobacco, suit their taste better than any cigarettes they can buy ready-made.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, June 19.—The Federals have secretly signed up a half dozen of Organized Baseball's stars, and these men will cavort on Federal diamonds next year, according to a source very close to the Federal League.

The reason the Feds have not announced the fact that they have signed up these men is because they fear that Organized Baseball will attempt some legal proceedings to bar these players from going over to the Federals. The authority for this statement also states that all of the players who have signed up to play with the Feds next year have been given from $3,000 to $5,000 advance money and they are now drawing the interest on this money.

* * * *

'Tis said that Jake Daubert, of the Dodgers, who was voted the most valuable player in the National League last year, is weeping and gnashing his teeth because he signed up a five year Dodger contract just a short time ago that calls for a paltry $5,600 a year. The Feds, it is said, have told Jacob that if he can tear himself loose from the ties that bind him to Charles Hercules Ebbets they will guarantee him a five year job and a salary of $9,000 a year. But Jacob seems so well hooked by the genial Mr. Ebbets that even the courts of law won't unhook him, and so he must suffer the loss of $3,400 per annum with as much fortitude as possible.

* * * *

England, Sweden and Germany have put into operation a plan that is designed to bring to the fore some of the great natural athletes of those countries in time for the trainers to get hold of them and polish them up for use in the Olympic games in 1916.

Because of the general apathy on the part of most of the young men in those nations concerning athletics in general, the different athletic authorities offered a diploma and a gold medal to all the youths who could pass tests in five of nine branches of athletics. The medals are handsome ornaments, bearing the government's seal on one side with the name of the owner of the medal underneath and on the other side a lot of words telling the world in general that the holder thereof is some considerable athlete.

The athlete does not have to compete in all the nine branches to secure a diploma and a medal. He can make his choice of five of nine branches, and if he has a good mark in those five he becomes an athletic graduate.

These nine branches are: Running, swimming, cycling, fencing, field events, wrestling, shooting, gymnastics and boxing.

The athletes compete under the supervision of the trainers who are on the lookout for some real marvels among the hordes of young men who have come forward to compete for the medals. It is said that already in England and Germany at least 100 real athletes, heretofore unheard of, have come to the fore through their competition for the medals, and that the trainers feel that out of this number they will be able to develop at least 20 per cent into real Olympic wonders.

Hearing in Lecky Suit.

A hearing was had at the court house on Thursday in the $700,000 action brought by James D. Lecky against Winston and Company before the Hon. Marcus T. Hun of Albany, the referee. The day was principally occupied in the continuance of Lecky's cross-examination by Judge Clearwater and in the introduction of documentary evidence. The next hearing will take place on the 7th and 8th of July. Rockwood and Haldane of New York city and Senator Brackett of Saratoga Springs are counsel for Lecky; Judge Clearwater represents the Winstons.

Mr. McGraw, the genial manager of the Giants got peeved yesterday and told Umpire Emslie that he was losing his eye sight.

"I can still see the clubhouse," retorted Mr. Emslie, and he immediately sent the little Napoleon to that very place.

The Cincinnati Reds are now within the shadow of first place in the National League and if you should ask a Cincinnati school boy the name of the father of his country he would reply "Buck Herzog."

The Senators have now slumped to fourth place in the American League, said slump being attributed to the poor pitching of Walter Johnson.

The Yanks didn't lose yesterday—they didn't play.

Barringer Sent to Jail.

Fred Barringer of Higginsville, who was arrested on Thursday afternoon by Policeman Shader on a warrant sworn out by his wife, was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail by Recorder Grogan. Barringer and his family live in a cellar of a house on Washington avenue in the Higginsville section which has been converted into two living rooms. For some time past he has not worked and his wife has been obliged to work hard to support her six children and her husband. Barringer got on a drunk on Thursday and stole his wife's pocketbook with the family earnings in it and spent it for booze. After he had gotten a full cargo of joy water aboard he went home and started to raise a rough house.

Hoboes Rounded Up.

The police got busy on Thursday evening and rounded up six hoboes, who were arraigned before Recorder Grogan and given two days each in the county jail. They gave their names as Frank Sullivan, William Haust, Thomas Sonti, Stephen Gorreti, Ray Burns and Louis Pepp. Sergeant Hanley and Policemen Welsh and Hess made the round up assisted by Detective Goodsell of the West Shore railroad.

Noise Maker Discharged.

Francis Lane was arrested on Thursday afternoon by Policeman Shader for running his automobile with the muffler cut out. When arraigned this morning he was discharged by Recorder Grogan.

STAR OF ATHLETICS, WHO JUMP TO CUBS.
(Eddie Collins.)

St. Louis, June 19.—According to a yarn spun by Danny Murphy Wednesday, the famous $100,000 infield of the Athletics will be a thing of the past next season. Eddie Collins, the pivot of the inner works of the world's champions, has agreed to sign with the Brooklyn Federals as soon as his contract with Connie Mack's team expires at the end of the season. His contract, so Murphy says, calls for a salary of $25,000 per year for three seasons.

Deer Outran Automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Colwell, J. F. McCreery and Joseph F. Franczak, while motoring from Brown's Station, happened upon a large deer. The deer, startled by the appearance of the motor car, started to sprint down the road with the motor car hot on its heels. After running for some time and fearing capture, the deer made a fancy leap over the rail fence bordering the road and disappeared in the woods.

Municipal League Meeting.

A meeting of the Municipal League will be held this evening at the Kingston Library. Several important matters will come before the meeeting.

Strawberry Festival.

The Junior Ladies' Aid Society of St. James's Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a strawberry festival on the parsonage lawn this afternoon and evening.
